Under the influence

Looking like he is taking part in a religious ceremony, Officer William Gable demonstrates a sobriety test during a mock trial held on Friday at Wilmington High School. The jury convicted a student, under the name of James Bradshaw, of driving under the influence of alcohol, and being a minor in possession of alcoholic beverages. With his back to the camera is Asst. District Attorney Anthony Pelusi. The jury is at right, along with a cameraman. The trial, "Under the Influence," will be broadcast on channel 6 on Thurs., May 17 at 8 p.m., with a repeat on May 23. The mock trial was prepared by Juvenile Officer Robert Spencer and Safety Officer Robert Shelley as a message to prom-bound students on drunk driving. See story, page S-3.

How do you get a large, square cement block into a sewer?

Sewer problems rarely surface enough to attract public attention, especially the usually well - designed municipal and state sewers.

Woburn and Burlington have recently had problems. The sewers overflow in Woburn because too much material is coming down from Burlington. it has been determined that at least in some inatances water, collected rain water, is being deterred into the public sewers, and the Burlington town officials are sort of scratching their heads as a result.

How does the town determine who has illegally diverted rain water into the publis sewers?

Such problems have not, and probably will not appear in Wilmington. The water and sewer commissioners detected one case of an illegal entry to the system, and in that case the owner made everything legal by paying up, cash on the barrelhead.

But there was an interesting report, in the commissioners' meeting of May 3. Superintendent Paul Duggan had been inspecting the sewer at the lower end of Woburn Street where the Woburn and Wilmington sewers meet.

For some years there has been a "manhole" at the lower end of Woburn Street where septage contractors could dump the contents of their trucks into the sewer. Every contrctor was supposed to pay the town of Wilmington for the use, and to conform to prescribed routines. Contractors in Wilmington, Tewksbury and Billerica were allowed to use the facility. Each of those two towns paid $10,000 a year for the right to use that manhole. And although the agreemtn with those towns was later cancelled, many out-of-town contractors continued to dump in that manhole.

A new septage station, with proper office and guards, was established about two years ago near the Town Park bridge. Things are now better controlled as a result.

What Paul Duggan found in that Woburn Street sewer is worthy of having been found in stories like those of alligators in the New York City sewers, or those of a century ago in Paris, by Victor Hugo. Not quite the same though.

Duggan reported that there was a lot of gravel, for a distance along that sewer. It was his belief that the gravel had been taken from various septic tanks and cesspools, by the suction of the four-inch hoses which are lowered into those tanks, when they are pumped out.

He also found three of those hoses, each about 20 feet long in the sewer. They were never reported as missing by anyone.

Another item, for which he could not account, was a block of concrete, solid, in cube, 18 inches by 18 inches by 18 inches.

All those, he believes, came from septage haulers who worked on the street after dark, so not to have to pay the town fees. That of course has been all stopped, since the new septage station was put into use. The former manhole is now covered with a 10 inch slab of concrete.

Duggan also found a large amount of latex, which floats, and which had been, apparently, illegally dumped into the sewer. The MDC was called, he reported, and the MDC took samples of the material.

Palmer plans subdivision expansion

Jay Palmer, formerly of Middlesex Avenue has submitted an addition to his plans, known as Middlesex Pines, for a subdivision off Middlesex Avenue in North Wilmington. Palmer Way is being constructed, with nine houselots, all of which are to have large homes.

Palmer is now planning 13 more lots, to the southerly, on large lots of land, and a street to be known as Douglas Avenue. The street will be 1300 feet long. A hearing has been tentatively set for June 26.

Peter DeGennaro is planning the construction of office condominiums in the rear of Barry's Oil, on Main Street. Discussions have been ongoing for several weeks. Discussions on May 8 involved parking. Mr. DeGennearo has 60 parking spaces in the plans, and needs 54.

The new plan for Winchell Road, voted in the annual town meeting was signed.

Aleppo Temple is planning a picnic area, of considerable extent, near the Temple at the end of Fordham Road. Members of the Planning Board walked the entire area last Thursday. Part of the hill, south of Park Street, is to be taken away and a large area graded suitably, for picnics and such.

The members of the Temple told the planning board this summer Aleppo Temple will be host to the entire organization from all over the United States.

Tony Gentile was elected the chairman of the planning board and Carole Hamilton the clerk, in the annual re-organization, thus in effect retiring Bill Hooper from a position (chairman) that he has held for a long time.

TOWN OF WILMINGTON
NOTICE
DOG OWNERS

All dogs must be licensed by June 9. On June 9 rabies clinic will be held at Highway Department, Andover Street. At this time you may license your dog at right side of clinic. This is your last chance after June 9 owners and keepers will be fined $15.00.

As it stands now fees are: $3.00 male and spayed females; $6.00 female; $10 late charge after June 9, town bylaw Ch. 29. All dogs three months old or older must be licensed G.L. 140 Ch. 138 thru 141.

Dog Officer,
M9 Joseph Balestrieri

Hit by train

Rita Wakefield of Kilby Street, Wilmington escaped injury when her car was hit by a train at the Glen Road crossing at 3:30 p.m. last Wednesday. The accident occurred when the car stalled and rolled forward, after she had come to a stop. Peter Fillis was the operator of the train. Officer Willie Lynch is directing traffic and talking with Ray Plummer, an auxiliary officer.

Planning Board hearing Tuesday on ice rink

With the May 21 special town meeting approaching, the proposed skating rink is the subject of various meetings.

On Tuesday evening, the Wilmington Finance Committee held its hearing on the town meeting warrant. That warrant contains but one article, which seeks to rezone to general business the land behind Mc Namara Tire. The fincom has not voted on the recommendation for that article.

The Planning Board will hold its hearing on the article on Tuesday evening, May 15, at the Wilmington Memorial Library.

Engineer Erich Neitchze has been working on a site plan for the rink. No architectural plans have been selected, as the committee wants to be sure of the town meeting vote before incurring that expense.

The rink is proposed to be built on land now owned by the Restuccia family, which also owns Wilmington Ford. Restuccia would turn the rink over to the Wilmington Arena Authority, a private non-profit group, headed by Al Reidy of Shawsheen Avenue.

Clock Tock

by THE CLOCKFOLK OF NEW ENGLAND
Wilmington

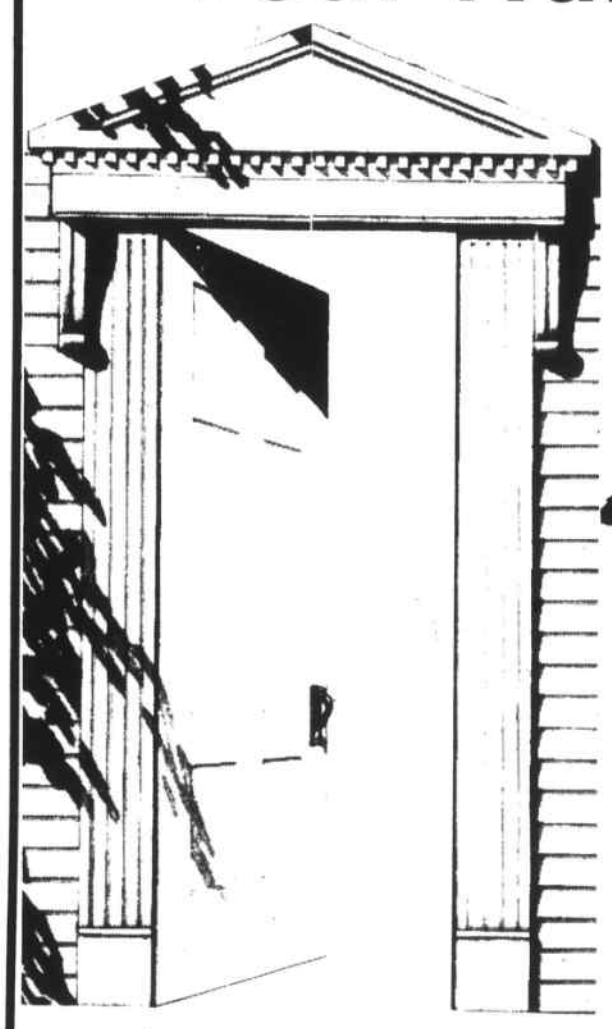

The word regulator, in reference to a clock, is indicative of a very precise, very high grade timepiece. Years ago, jewelers engaged in the repair of watches and clocks often had regulators for testing and judging their finished work. Railroads had regulators by which stationmasters assured the accuracy of train schedules. Observatories also had the need for precise regulator clocks to achieve exact time for celestial observations.

Usually regulators included a power source of a weight to insure consistently even power, a swinging pendulum which accounts for temperature changes, and acting surfaces made as friction-free as possible, often with jewels. No chiming or striking was used in order to avoid unnecessary vibrations to the mechanism. Basically everything was sacrificed for accuracy. To give best results, the regulator should be fixed to a wall as a free-standing clock will sway with the motion of the pendulum, thus affecting its time keeping.

The word regulator is much misused, being put on all sorts of clocks regardless of quality. The Waltham Clock Company and E. Howard & Co., of Boston were two of the best local makers of regulators, in the true meaning. With electric clocks, and the advent of quartz timekeeping, dependable time can be achieved at less expense with less volume leaving the regulator as an item from yesterday.

Bottle bill bonus

State officials have discovered that there is a surplus of funds from deposit containers not being returned. The bottlers, never fond of the bottle bill, are now upset by the state's proposal to take the money away, especially after they have had to pay income tax on it.

The controversy provides a good opportunity to examine the effects of the bottle bill, good and bad.

One good feature of the law is that people do go around, picking up cans and bottles. One bad aspect is that some of these people dump rubbish from roadside barrels, looking for deposit containers.

Many containers, for one reason or another, are not returned. Since retailers are only required to accept undamaged containers, broken bottles or dented cans become rubbish, and part of the bottlers' windfall. Surprisingly enough, there are also some people who consider the bother of returning the container to be not worth the nickle or dime. And then, there are the oddball brands, such as those produced by a small, local bottler. Before you can return these bottles, you have to remember where you bought them. Many people would agree that returning bottles is a pain in the neck, first class.

If the bottle law is to be changed, it should provide a stiff penalty for anyone dumping a barrel in search of deposit containers. It should require that any money the state takes in from surplus deposits be used for roadside cleanup efforts.

One other possible change could be to provide for the return of flattened cans, as long as the deposit stamp is legible. This would save valuable space for the storekeeper. It would also further reduce litter, since flattened cans are now left at the roadside.

letter to the editor

Dear Larz:

Alarming numbers of children are sexually abused each year. The vast majority of these cases involve a person the child knows, not a stranger. Sensitively presented information can lessen our children's vulnerability to sexual abuse.

WBZ T.V. is rebroadcasting "This Secret Should be Told," on Saturday, May 19, at 1:30 p.m. This half hour program uses puppets to present the important prevention information. My five and eight-year-old children watched the program and I feel comfortable recommending it to other parents of young children.

This year I've addressed hundreds of parents and teachers on the prevention of child abduction and sexual abust. We need to educate ourselves and our children if we are to make childhood a safe place to be.

Sitting with your child by your side watching "This Secret Should Be Told" is a good way to start.

Sincerely,
Stephanie Meegan

Tewksbury passes automatic pay raise plan for town clerk

Arguing for parity with full time town employees, Tewksbury Town Clerk Elizabeth Carey not only got a raise during town meeting action Monday, she was also able to get voters to go along with creating a sliding salary scale that will allocate automatic raises for the town clerk in future years.

Voters adopted by voice vote a plan presented by Carey that creates a new town bylaw governing how the town clerk's yearly salary is determined. After applying a formula outlined in the plan, Carey will see her salary jump from $18,500 a year to $23,420 starting July 1, a raise of $4920.

Essentially the plan ties the salary for the town clerk's position to the salaries contained in the town's municipal employee contract. That contract places all town employees into a certain "grade", or classification. Each grade contains several "steps", or different salary amounts.

A newly hired employee automactically starts at step one within their grade and advances one step each year until reaching the maximum step level within their grade.

The amounts tied to those steps are periodically changed when new contracts are negotiated.

According to Carey's plan, the bylaw creates a town clerk salary scale that is 1.1 times higher than the salary received by grade four employees.

The plan calls for Carey to start receiving the first step of the new wage scale on July 1, 1984 and allow her to advance one step every year until reaching the maximum grade four step level. The plan also stipulates that any changes in the municipal employee contract will also be reflected in the town clerk's wage scale.

The salary for a newly elected town clerk will revert back to step one, according to the plan which also stipulates that the town clerk will receive no overtime or longevity increments. Longevity increments are awarded to employees based on their number of years of service.

Carey argued for adoption of the plan by saying must elected officials in town work part time and receive a mere "token" salary. Her position and that of the treasurer-collector, she said, are the only two truely full time elected posts.

As a reward for doing the full time job, she said, the town clerk is currently getting a salary that is lower than several town employees, including some of her subordinates.

While noting that other towns in area pay their town clerks between $22,500 and $32,000 a year, Carey explained the many duties and functions she performs, including everything from keeping track of all town records to issuing several different types of licenses.

She also said she has recently accepted the additional duties of processing town issued parking tickets and has agreed to supervise an upcoming state mandated census. "The finance committee has recommended my request to do these duties, but has not recommended any extra pay for doing them," she said.

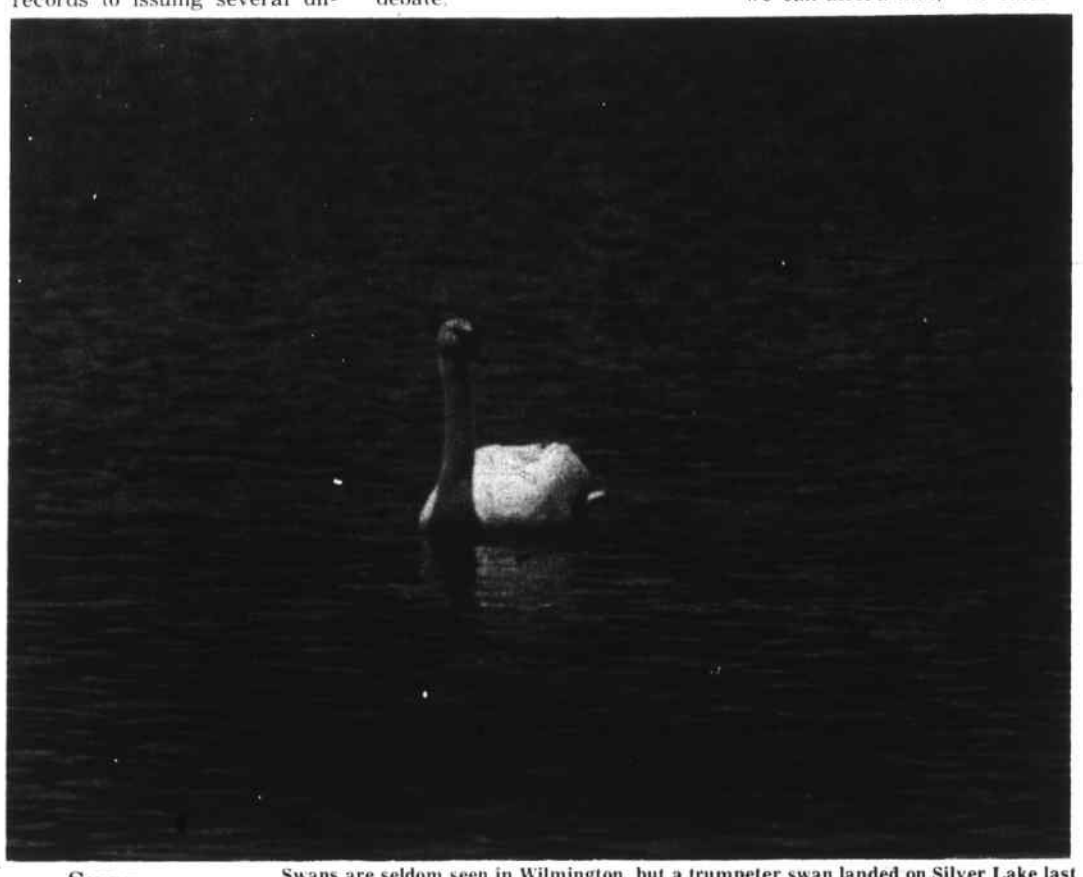

The town clerk's pay, Carey argued, should be based on the duties and responsibilities of the job. She also argued that qualified people may be more easily lured into seeking the post if there is an equitable salary scale for it.

Before yielding the floor Carey argued that a set salary scale will result in a town clerk who will be better able to perform the job and "not become side tracked by an annual salary debate."

In arguing against the plan, Finance Committee Chairman Bob Masters urged voters to "separate the person from the job." He admitted that Carey works full time, but added that there is no town bylaw mandating that the clerk be on duty full time.

A vote to grant a raise in pay may be an indication that voters think an elected official is doing a good job, he said, but a better indication comes when the official is re-elected. "And thats really the reward for doing a good job when your an elected official," he said.

Masters also noted that the fincom was recommending a $2000 salary adjustment for Carey and that her plan would net her an additional $2920. "Quite frankly, in a very tight budget year, I don't think that we can afford that," he said.

Swan on the lake

Swans are seldom seen in Wilmington, but a trumpeter swan landed on Silver Lake last Thursday. Ron Fournier of Fitz Terrace saw a large white object. When he took a second look and realized it was a swan, he called the Town Crier. The bird has since departed.

Man sought in payroll theft surrenders, bailed in time to attend at wedding

Just hours before he was to be the best man at his friend's wedding, a 24-year-old Lowell man surrendered to Tewksbury police. The man, Donald H. Hines, of 19 Doane Street, turned himself in last Saturday morning to face charges that he absconded with almost $90,000 in cash and checks from a local payroll service.

According to police, Hines turned himself in because he knew he was being sought and wanted to be at his friend's happy occassion Saturday afternoon. Police also say he didn't want to take the chance that police would show up at the wedding to arrest him.

Hines is charged with one count of larceny over $100 and four counts of forgery and uttering after he allegedly tried to abscond last Thursday with almost $90,000, mostly in checks, from a local payroll service firm.

Police allege that Hines, who started working at the Advanced Automation payroll service on Monday, April 30, failed to deliver payroll checks to serval firms. They also allege he cashed four of the checks.

According to Inspector Clifford Bolton, Hines was to deliver checks to several firms within the Boston and Route 128 area last Thursday. Bolton alleges Hines made one stop along his route and then drove around for a few hours before ditching the company car just 300 yards up the street from the Main Street location of Advanced Automation. He then got into his own car and fled, police allege.

Bolton and Inspector Paul Ringwood investigated the case for two days and had contacted Hines' parents to let them know their son was being sought for questioning. The parents relayed the message to their son, who then turned himself in and was arrested at 9:10 a.m. on May 5.

Bolton said that because he had no prior record, Hines was bailed shortly after the arrest, in time for him to make the wedding.

Police say they have recovered all the money and checks.

House numbers, tot finders given away

Smoke detectors save lives. They are also required by law. Wilmington town bylaws require all homes to have smoke detectors. In many instances, local residents have been saved by the warning beep of a smoke detector.

House numbers are also required by town bylaw. These numbers are an important time-saver to emergency personnel trying to identify a locaton.

Another valuable safety item is a tot-finder decal. Placed on a bedroom window or door, it signals a priority area for search and rescue in the event of a fire. It can be used for rooms where there would be an invalid, an elderly person, a handicapped resident, or a child.

To help promote better public safety, representatives of Forest Conant Realty World will be giving away free house numbers, tot-finder decals and rebate coupons for smoke detectors at Wilmington Plaza and Oakdale Mall on Saturday, May 12 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. The program is being carried out in cooperation with the Wilmington Fire Department.

Educational Update

by Dr. Carol Sager
Wilmington Superintendent of schools

Thank you, Wilmington

It was thrilling at Town Meeting, May 1, 1984, to watch all sectors of the voting public — senior citizens, members of the business community, parents without school age children as well as those with children currently in school — rise as a unit to vote "Yes" for the high school renovation project.

According to the State Department of Education, the town's vote to borrow $6.5 million to renovate to educate and to exempt the bond from the provisions of Proposition 2½ is unprecedented in Massachusetts. This can only be interpreted as Wilmington's overwhelming support

— For Education
— For Children
— For all of us who serve the needs of children

This gives me a great personal satisfaction, and I thank you all sincerely.

Since May 1, 1984 I have been called by the Boston Globe, by the Lowell Sun, by the school committee persons and superintendents throughout the state to find out how this was accomplished. Certainly I cite the rally, the letters, the publicity, the telephoning, the dedicated efforts of all who helped to inform the public and mobilize community support for this project, but I tell everyone that Wilmington has always been a caring community. In the 12 years I've served the Wilmington Public Schools as director of reading, assistant superintendent of schools, and as superintendent of schools, whenever I have needed community support for children it was there; and, obviously, it still is.

One school committee person from another town said "You should be so very proud of Wilmington." And, of course, I am. I am proud of the seniors who sat through town meeting hour after hour and came out strongly in support of Article 13, and I am proud of the parents who, despite their sitter problems and their concerns about getting young children into bed, were so appreciative that they did not leave town meeting after Article 13 was voted on, but waited until Article 29 was drawn so they could show their support for the seniors.

The word conspire in its literal sense means "to breathe together," and at the town meeting, there was an unspoken conspiracy of concern and connectedness that was electrifying. The whole town did, indeed, "breath together."

The Parents Task Force to the Superintendent will continue to meet and the main objective will be to keep the momentum going.

How wonderful it would be if we could maintain this solidarity, this spirit of cooperation. None of us is ever as important or powerful as all of us.

Thanks!

We went to the town meeting seeking a zoning change. We came out with a unanimous vote.

As the owners of Mancini's, we would like to thank the voters of Wilmington for their unanimous support of our article in the recent Annual Town Meeting. The article gave us the zoning change we needed to proceed with our plans for building a full-service restaurant.

The fact that the vote was unanimous was, to say the least, heartening, as well as a reflection on our attempts to run a good business in Wilmington.

We are confident that our new restaurant will live up to the high expectations expressed in that unanimous vote.

Thank you

250th Committee names official fund raisers

Dick Sutherby of Pinewood Road, Bob Fay of Foster Road and Mark Roberts of North Street have been named by the 250th Anniversary Committee of Tewksbury as the official fund raisers for that committee.

The town is unable to provide all the money needed for the long celebration. Any donation, from private individuals or from any business will be gladly accepted by the committee. Donations will help defray expenses for the year long celebration. Donations, say committee members will help the townspeople to enjoy and be proud of their community. It will permit lasting momentos to be enjoyed in years to come.

The three men will have a letter signed by Chairman Mary Novo and selectmen Chairman Paul H. Sullivan. They and they alone are empowered to solicit funds from the business firms of the community on behalf of the 250th committee.

Checks may be made out to The 205th Anniversary Committee. Those checks may be given to any of the three men, or mailed to Eleanor Corey, treasurer, 121 Carter St., Tewksbury.

The committee and the Tewksbury Chamber of Commerce have in the past week expressed their displeasure at private collections being made from Tewksbury stores.

Tewksbury senior topics

The monthly movie to be shown this Saturday, May 12 at the senior center will be "I Remember Mama" with Irene Dunne. The showing of this all time favorite will begin at 1:30 p.m. All are welcome.

Tickets to the Highland Players performance of "The Best Things in Life are Free" will be available from the coordinator until Friday. Those taking the bus are reminded that bus pickup will begin at approximately 12:45 p.m. and depart from the senior center at 1 p.m. This performance will begin at 2:30 p.m. on Sunday, May 13 at Durgin Hall, Lowell University.

There are five garden areas available at the senior center. The areas have been cultivated and are ready for planting. Those interested in maintaining a garden may contact the coordinator.

The line dancing class is reminded that this Thursday, May 10 is dress rehearsal day. Class will begin at 10 a.m. Don't forget to bring your smile!

Glee Club members will meet until the end of June. However, it should be noted that during this period a weekly signup will be required. One should call the senior center by 11:30 a.m. on Tuesday if they plan to attend. If it is found that attendance is low, Glee Club will be cancelled for that week. Seniors are reminded that many requests were made to reinstate the Glee Club. In light of this fact, your participation and regular attendance is greatly appreciated.

Tickets to the Council On Aging (COA) May dance to be held Friday, May 25 at 7:30 p.m. are available from the coordinator. Admission tickets are free to Tewksbury seniors.

However, out-of-town guest tickets are $3 per person. Tickets will be limited to the first 150 people. Parties of 10 may reserve a table. Plan to attend this evening of enjoyment which will include entertainment by Angie Bergamini and a mid-evening buffet.

The COA was to sponsor an ice cream party on Sunday, May 20. This date has been postponed until Sunday, June 3 from 2 to 4 p.m. Please note your calendars with this change. There are still four spaces available for this trip. If interested you may contact GAC member Denis DeDeo at 851-7690 or 851-5949.

A Happy Mothers Day is wished to all.

Weekly schedule:
May 10 to May 16

Jazzing it up

Students will be in concert during the Tewksbury Pops on Wednesday, May 16.

Tewksbury students ranked tops at Festival of Music

The Tewksbury High Jazz Ensemble swept the jazz band category at the Holidays of Music festival held at Busch Gardens, Williamsburg and Virginia Beach, Virginia. The seven piece ensemble took first place in their class plus first place in the overall class. In addition, guitarist Alan Whitney was awarded the best soloist trophy for his solo on Chuck Mangione's "Feel So Good."

Members of the group are Eric Gagnon, trumpet; Tim Patterson, alto saxaphone; Kevin Bibeau, tenor saxophome; Doug Haslam, trombone; Alan Whitney, guitar; Dean Monoxelos, bass; and Roger Whittlesey, III, drums.

Also, the Tewksbury High school chorus brought home a third place for their presentation of Paul Simon's "Love Me Like a Rock" and "Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy of Company B."

The Jazz Ensemble also received a best accompaniment trophy for their backup work behind the TMHS Chorus.

Groups from seven states including Arizona and Maryland competed for trophies in vocal and instrumental categories.

Both the TMHS Jazz Ensemble and Chorus may be seen in performance Wednesday evening, May 16 during the Annual Pops Concert at Tewksbury Memorial High School.

Clues sought after man grabs cash, flees

Tewksbury Police are searching for clues in connection with the theft of cash from a local gasoline station.

According to reports, an unknown man came into the office of the A. B Arco station on Main Street at around 4:30 p.m. on May 3 and later fled with an undetermined amount of cash. Police say that while the attendent was in the office making change for another custmomer, the man came in, reached into the opened cash drawer, grabbed several bills and fled the scene.

The incident took no longer a few seconds and left very few hints for police to go on.

TMHS girls' track

Record setters push Redmen past Lowell

Last week the Tewksbury High School girls' track team continued its' winning ways. Sparked by some spectacular, record setting performances by its' veterans, the team pulled off an upset win over previously undefeated Lowell.

The meet got off to a flying start when Kathy Weisensee flew over the high jump bar at five feet. This was a personal best for the high spirited senior who has made considerable improvement in the high jump, which is not her primary event.

Seniors Pia Romano and Eileen Griffin and freshman Nancy Menezes were dominating the throwing events. Pia let loose with her finest discus throw of the season, a 106' 1" effort. Nancy took second in the discus and then she and Pia swapped places in the shot put. Eileen Griffin proved that she is one of the top javelin throwers in the conference by hurling the spear 96'2" to take first place.

Beverly Luken, Tewksbury's stalwart star, then began her fabulous day by sailing to a long jump victory at 16' 6". A few minutes later she was back on the track in her specialty, the 100 yard dash, which she won easily in 11.5 seconds.

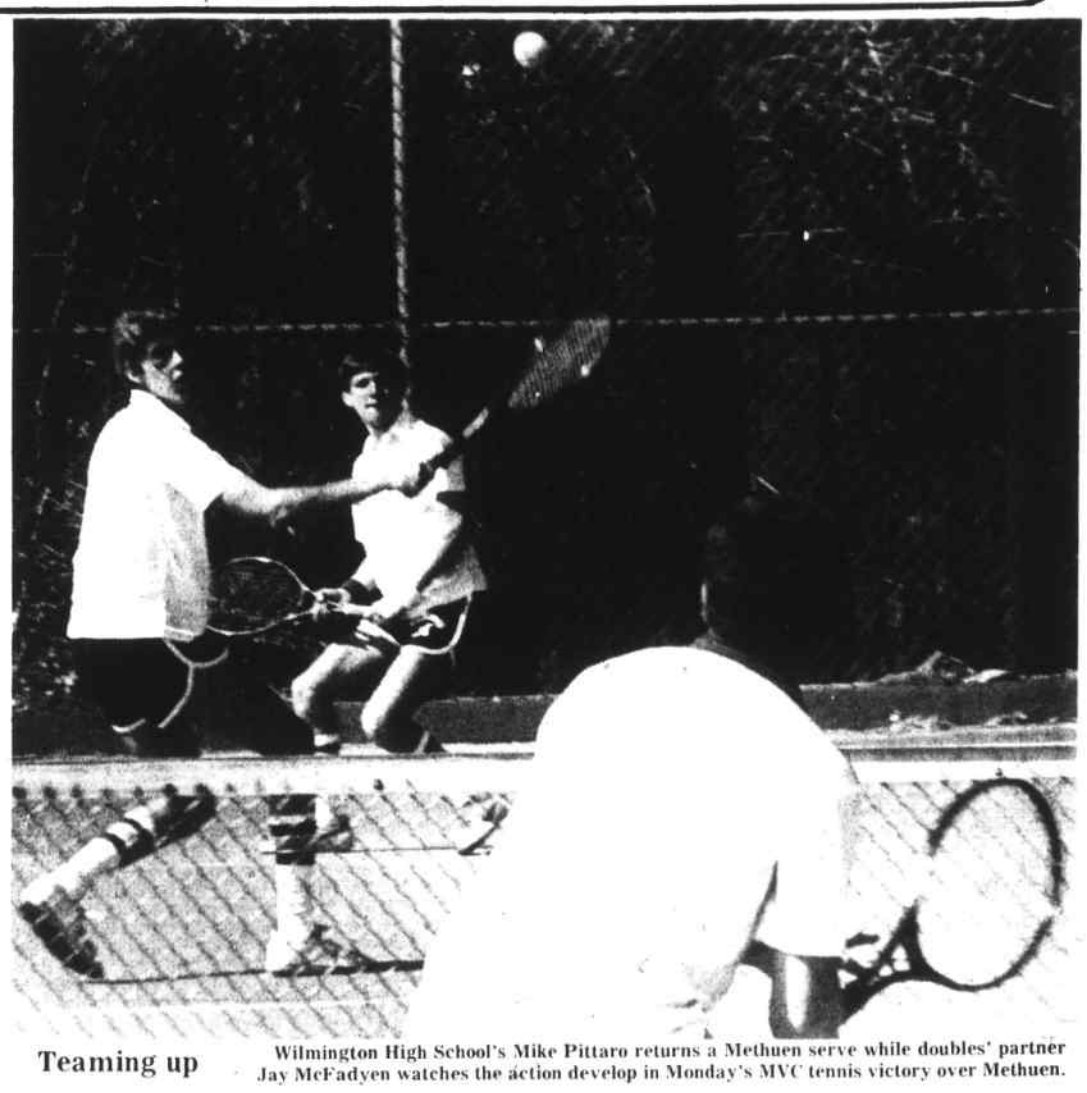

Tracy Meehan kept the Tewksbury momentum going with a strong win ~~in~~ the hurdles. Since her freshman year Tracy, now a junior, has spent many hours mastering the hurdles, and now she is scoring points regularly in this very difficult event.

As the meet began to look like a sure Tewksbury win, two events provided opportunities for the Tewksbury girls to really show their class. In the mile run, Kathy Weisensee took off from the pack and began to set a torrid pace. Her time of 5:27 shaved over four seconds off the school record set by teammate Fran Mulrain.

Shortly after that Beverly Luken surged out of the blocks in the 440 yard run and blazed her way to a new school record of 60.14 seconds, cutting 1.4 seconds off the fine mark set by Patty Murphy in 1981.

The meet ended as it began, on a positive note, embellished by some truly fine personal performances. The team put together for the mile relay consisted of three girls who had never run that event before, plus veteran quarter miler Julie Bernardi. In spite of their inexperience, freshman Chris Blake and sophomores Renee Juchnevics and Peggy Forsyth gave the baton to Julie with a big lead. Julie ran a superb anchor leg and the quartet finished with a time of 4:30, one of the best mile relays run in the MVC this season.

Their win safely in the bag, the girls cheered on the boys' mile relay team that needed to win in order for the TMHS boys' to win their meet. And they did it in fine style to score a very impressive double victory over Lowell.

Sixth annual race to the sea

Great Race Saturday

The Shawsheen Watershed Environmental Action Team (S.W.E.A.T.) is set for the sixth annual Great Race from Tewksbury to the sea this Saturday, May 12 rain or shine.

The race follows two courses- one by land, on country roads, while the other traces the Shawsheen and Merrimack Rivers from the town of Tewksbury to the North Beach of Newburyport's Plum Island. Participants are urged to use all means, ingeneous and otherwise, to complete the race with one basic rule- internal combustion engines are not allowed.

The race by water begins at 6 a.m. at the Knights of Columbus Hall on Rt. 38 in Tewksbury. Registration begins at 5 a.m. Canoes are the favored means of transportation, as racers must negotiate many obstacles on the 45 mile trek to unpredictable Plum Island Sound.

The land race follows a picturesque route through back roads in Andover, North Andover, Boxford, Groveland, Merrimac, Amesbury, and Newburyport some 33.3 miles to the North Beach. Bicyclists depart Tewksbury Center at 12 noon. Registration begins at 10:30.

All participants must provide their own transportation back from the Island. T-shirts will be presented to the first 50 bicyclists and first 100 canoeists who finish the race.

Registration fees will be $5.00 pre-registered and $6.00 on race day. For registration forms, send a self addressed stamped envelope to S.W.E.A.T., 21 Pond St., Tewksbury, Ma. 01876.

Cardinals romp past Reds

Cardinals 19 Reds 5

Two-hit pitching by Judy O'Connell and Matt MaMannus together with Mike Sims, John Gerrior and Tom Ducey with two hits each sparked the win. Outstanding defensive play was turned in by Joey Valentino and Chris Sullivan. Matt Ryan and Joey Catanzano pitched well for the Reds. Defensively, George Orfaly and Tom Peck played well. Ritchie Moore contributed some heads-up baserunning to help the Reds.

Astros vs Mets

The Astros topped the Mets, 19-13, as winning pitcher Terri Downs got plenty of help from Brenda Jones and Deanna Ewrin, with Ewrin getting the save. Maureen Robinson had two doubles and four RBI's; Judith Baptiste a homerun, a single and four RBI's and Terri Downs had three hits, a triple and two RBI's. Defensive standouts were shortfielder Kelly Kavanaugh and catcher Barbara Lafave.

Astros vs Padres

The Astros topped the Padres, 13-8 with pitcher Deanna Erwin getting the win and Maureen Robinson striking out several key hitters for the save. Terri Downs had a home run, a triple and a single for five RBI's and scored three runs. Defensive standouts were Kellie Kavanaugh and Terri Downs.

Reds 17 Mets 7

Power was supplied by Eric Heselton and Tina Hersom with good pitching by Darryl Grant and Paul Haught. A great catch was made by Andre Paradis. Good pitching was turned in by Eric Creetho and Matthew Ryan of the Reds, with Joey Catanzano, Marie Zizis and Mark Staffier supplying the power. A fielding gem was turned in by Jim Kiesinger.

Braves 12 Giants 11

Good pitching was turned in by Christian Armata, with Steven Burns' relief work keeping the Braves in the game. A grand slam homerun by Anthony Bonarrigo as well as a crucial single by Bobby Stockbridge led the way for the winners. Two homeruns were produced by Kerrigan and one by Capeutti to keep the Giants in the game. Bobby Polozzi pitched a good game for the Giants.

Braves 16 Dodgers 11

Two triples by John Lynch and three singles by Joe Gill helped the Braves cause. Good pitching by Anthony Bonarrigo as well as excellent fielding by Danny Godin and Jackie Sullivan were keys to the win. Steve Totto hit two singles and Chris Danmilio banged a triple for the Dodgers. Jason Montalbano played a good defensive game.

Northern Area Freshmen-Sophomore Meet at Wilmington

The Redmen of the future, all of whom are actually a majority of the Tewksbury track and field team, turned in many outstanding performances at the annual Freshmen-Sophomore Northern Area Track and Field Meet run by coach Frank Kelley of Wilmington.

The performances: First places, Scott Karlberg, 330 yard low hurdles, 43.7 (PB); Mark Cristoffels, Ed Piscopo, Richie Lapham, Kenn Coviello, 400 yard relay, 46.7 (team PB)

Second place, Doug Noyes, discus, 118'8¼". Third places, Richie Lapham, 440 yard run, 54.9; Ed Piscopo, 880 yard run, 2.05.2 (PB); 100 yard dash, Kenn Coviello, 10.6 (PB); 220 yard dash, Mark Cristoffels, 23.6 (PB).

Sixth place, Mark Cristoffels, triple jump, 37'7".

Other notable performances came from Steven Moore, 17'¾" in the long jump; Mike Goodine with a 34'9" triple jump; Goodine with an 18.9 high hurdle performance; Moore with a 25.7 time in the 220 yard dash; Steven Ellwood, winner in his heat of the two mile with 11.16.6 time; followed by teammate Robbie Busch with an 11.24.3; and finally the mile relay team of Chris McHardy, Charlie Santagti, Steven Moore, and Mike Goodine, who just finished out of the money with a 3.58.9 time.

Nice drive TMHS captain Dave Crowley drives the ball in MVC golf action against Wilmington Monday afternoon. The red-hot Wildcats defeated the Redmen.

Wilmington overpowers Winchester, 7-1

This past Saturday three of the Wilmington Youth Soccer League travelling teams journeyed to the opponents' battlefield and returned with two victories and a tie. The boys under-10 squad defeated Winchester to bring their season's record to 4-0, while the under-14 team defeated Reading to up their record to 3-1. The girls under-12 game was postponed due to wet grounds at Melrose.

Boys under-10

The boys continued their winning ways by overpowering the Winchester entry, 7-1. Goals were scored by Eric Flynn, Brian Wallace, John Lynch, Tommy Killilea, Jimmy DeMarco, Greg Maiella and Bobby Deislinger.

The goal scorers were assisted by the outstanding passing of Brent Carbone, Gerard Forgett, Tommy Zaya, Jason Gavin and Brian McGinley. The boys will host a strong Reading United team Saturday at Shawsheen field at 4 p.m.

Boys under-14

The under-14 team recorded its' third victory Saturday in Reading, as they defeated the Reading United entry, 3-1. Although falling behind early in the first half 1-0, the Wilmington exerted tremendous pressure on the Reading goalie until Mike Connell converted on a rebound in front of the goal. The score was set up on some sharp passes by Paul Wheeler and Jeff Stevenson. A few minutes later Andy Parr scored to give Wilmington a 2-1 lead at the half.

Wilmington continued to apply pressure in the second half until Adam Pagliarulo scored the insurance goal about midway through the half. Reading made one attempt to cut the lead, only to be repelled by a fine save by goalie Charlie Protopapis. Fine two way play was turned in by halfbacks Tim Penney and Chris Pozzi, along with solid performances by fullbacks Steven Killilea, Danielle Fay, Brian Gillespie and Susan Killilea. The team's next game is Monday evening, May 14, at 6 p.m. at Shawsheen against a tough Bedford team.

Girls under-12

The girls under-12 team fought to a 0-0 tie with Woburn last week. The wind conditions had an effect on both teams, but Wilmington still staged many thrusts led by Amy Josephson, Cara Scalese, Erin McKenna, Andrea DiLeo and Ann Marie Barletta. Nikki Zarrella had a chance to play nearly a full game out of goal and seemed to be everywhere on the field from her halfback spot, aiding both on offense and defense.

The defensive corps was led by Tina Kelly, Jennis LaVita, Katie Finn and Margie Rega.

Wilmington Youth Soccer page 10

Wilmington Softball League

'Blazing' Bernie sparks Shell

The Wilmington Softball League got off to a typical fast start last week, with North Wilmington Shell roaring to a 16-2 romp past the Sons of Italy. Sparking the victory was the pitching of 'Blazing' Bernie Wagstaff and the bats of Bob Noel and Mike Tripodi with two hits apiece. Bob Capozzi spanked two hits for the Sons of Italy.

Pepsi Cola 12 Fed. Express 8

Rick Weber ripped a single and a triple for the winners, while John Cahill banged two safeties for Federal Express.

No. Wilm. Shell 6
Realty World 3

Bob Noel chucked a four-hitter, getting stick support from Ray Noel (single, double, homer) and Bill Swan (two hits). Paul O'Donnell slashed a triple for Realty World.

Dynamics Research 18
Analog Devices 8

Les Peabody and Bruce McEleath slapped three hits apiece for the winners. Pedro Alguila and Jack Day had two hits apiece for Analog Devices.

Farmer and the Del 13
Analog Devices 0

Wally Neal fired a one-hitter, getting support from Rob O'Connell with three hits and Ken Sachione with a pair.

Wilmington Ford 19
Dunkirk Express 6

Rick O'Neil, Paul Lyman, Paul Bova and Fred Olshaw ripped four hits apiece as Jim Crowley hurled the win over Ed Doherty. Steve LaFave had two Dunkirk hits.

Converse Rubber 11
Federal Express 10

Winning pitcher John McCarthy helped his own cause with a single and a double, while Ed Doherty had two hits and drove in the winning run. Jim Peterson spanked three hits for Federal Express.

Realty World 5
Wilmington Ford 0

Paul O'Donnell hurled a six-hitter with help from Jim Bossi (single, double) and Mike Herra (triple).

Doyle's Hardware 12
No. Wilm. Shell 11 (eight inns.)

Tom Bromander had two hits and drove in the winning run as Kris Hinxman got the victory over Bob Noel. Steve Brander enjoyed a super night for the winners with three hits and four runs scored. Brander also scored the winning run. Bob Butters and Earl Paulsen combined for seven Shell hits.

D and D Gulf 7
Dunkirk Express 3

Bob Aprile and Bill Blaisdell had two hits apiece for D and D as Tom Woods chucked the win over Ed Doherty. Ernie Peabody had two hits for Dunkirk Express.

McNamara Tire starts fast

Defending champion McNamara Tire began defense of their Wilmington Over 35 League title in fine style last week with an 11-10 victory over Stelio's. Mark Peters spanked three hits and drove in Paul Fullerton (three hits) with the winning run in the bottom of the seventh inning. The big Stelio's sticks were wielded by Walter Welding (two hits, three RBI's) and Rick Froton with a homerun.

Charlies' Auto Body 22
Casalot Real Estate 10

Frank Botte paced the Body Boys with four hits, while the Casalot leader was John Curren with three safeties. Ted Wicks hurled the win over Jim Newhouse.

Joe Barry Oil 20
B and B Acoustics 7

Jim Evans went 5 for 5 with a triple and a homerun, while mates Frank Stone and Doug Anderson had three hits apiece. Steve Buonopane was perfect in his three B and B at-bats.

Royal roast

Ed Blades and his wife Jean share a laugh with master of ceremonies Matt Taylor (center) during Monday night's roast of Blades and Ed Krzesinski at the Elks Hall. Blades and Krzesinski resigned as director and vice chairman of Tewksbury Youth Basketball after five super years.

Softball tryouts

Due to the rainout on Friday, May 4, tryouts for the Senior League of Tewksbury girls' softball (ages 14, 15, 16) have been rescheduled for Thursday, May 10 at 6 p.m. at the Junior High School softball field at the rear of the school.

Girls turning 17 years old before September 1, 1984 are not eligible. Any girl who has not registered may do so the night of tryouts. Any questions should be directed to Bill Staniewicz at 851-3233.

Wilmington Youth Soccer from page nine

This, combined with the fine goal tending of Ellen DeMarco, Susy Walsh, and Nikki Zarrella, was too much for Woburn to contend with. This game was another total team effort from what is becoming a finely tuned machine. This Saturday at 11:30 a.m. Wilmington will host Westford.

Wilmington Little League from page eight

Cardinals 17 Pirates 8

Great pitching was turned in by Chris Sullivan and Tom Ducey. The hitting came from a Matt McMannus (homerun, double), Jimmy DeMarco (homerun) and John Gerrior (triple,single). A great doubleplay was turned by Tom Ducey and Matt McManus. Judy O'Connell made a great relay from short centerfield to nail a Pirate runner at the plate. Dave Ortis did a super job pitching in relief, while Eric D'Antonio and Chuck Velozo both had triples. Greg Maiella pulled off an unassisted double play.

Dodgers 14 Astros 16

Joe Cunningham hit a triple for the Dodgers and Mike Pilcher had a homerun. Excellent pitching was offered by the Astros' by Bobby Fleming. Mike Venuti had a homerun and Andy Venuti had a triple.

Astros 30 Mets 13

Good relief pitching by Bill Alessandro and Darrel Grant. Hitting power was supplied by Brian Kinear, Mike Maimo and Steven Finnerty. The Astros pitching was paced by Bobby Flemming and Mike Hurley. Mike Hurley and Mike Venuti had homeruns.

Sluggers 11 Kneesox 6

Solid hitting by the Sluggers' Kelle Murray with a triple and three RBI's. Nicole DelNinno also chipped in with two RBI's. Christine Peters ripped a double. Good fielding by Kristin Palm, Lori Cormier and Ginny Cosgrove. The winning pitcher was Ann Marie Andersen.

Fishing derby

The annual Lions Club - Wilmington Recreation Department Fishing Derby will be held Saturday, May 19 from 9 a.m. to noon at Silver Lake. Local residents of all ages will be welcome.

The Lions Club will be donating prizes to the first, second and third place anglers for the biggest bass and biggest non-bass. Age divisions are 12 and under and 13 and over. There is no entry fee.

The fishing derby will be followed by a canoe clinic and beach area cleanup from 1 to 4 p.m. The raindate will be the following day.

Memorial races

The Knights of Columbus and Recreation Department will be holding the annual Memorial weekend races Saturday, May 26 from 10 a.m. to noon at the WHS track.

Trophies will be awarded to the first place finisher for each sex in each division, with medalions going to those finishing second and third. Ribbons will be available for all finishers.

Shop talk

Tewksbury High School coach Bob Ware searches for an answer in a recent MVC game. Ware and the Redmen are 3-5 in the MVC thus far. The first-year TMHS coach is looking for anyone who would be interested in playing in an alumni game. Ware can be contacted at his home in Tewksbury.

Tewksbury Spring Basketball

Boudreau's shot tips TCU, 66-65

Tewksbury freshman Tim Boudreau's last second shot lifted UCLA to a come from behind 66-65 victory over an undermanned TCU squad in recent Tewksbury Spring Basketball League action. Barry Dick (35) and Boudreau (18) led the way for the winners. Eighth grader Kevin O'Brien hit four of five foul shots down the stretch to keep UCLA close. Sean Doherty, Charlie Gath, and Carl Melius scored 22, 13 and 12 points respectively for T.C.U.

During the past week a strong L.S.U. squad defeated B.U., 78-64. Brian Dick poured in 36 points and Brian Kobelski contributed 20 points for the winners. B.U. was led by Al Mansfield (24), Bobby Briggs (14), and Jim Larson (10).

UNLV evened its' record at 2-2 by upsetting B.C., 61-51. Rob Aylward (21), Steve Sinclair (15) and Eric Meinghaus (11) were the leading scorers for the victors. Jeff Smith (21) and Brian Aylward (10) were the leading contributors for B.C.

A powerful SMU squad downed OSU by a one point margin, 51-50. SMU got fine performances from Dave Wheaton (29) and Joe Vecchi (17), while O.S.U. had Bob Dunlay (15), Matt Conserva (11) and Richard Prince in double figures (10).

Tewksbury Girls' Recreation Basketball

Cavaliers roll to Senior League title

The Tewksbury girls' Senior League basketball season came to an exciting finish recently, with the Cavaliers winning the league championship for the second straight year via a 41-26 victory over the Sonics. This is the first year that the girls' league has had two divisions with a playoff game scheduled to determine the league champs.

The Cavaliers have won 27 straight games over two seasons.

The Cavaliers, with a record of 13-0, were the East Division champs, while the Sonics, with an 11-2, slate were the West winners.

Jeannie Sullivan led the Cavaliers with 14 points, followed by Frannie Nawossa with 10, Lori Zotto with nine, Chris Brady with four and Kerry Silk and Jeanne Donnelly with two each.

Great defensive play was turned in by Kathy Kobelski, Tricia Nelson and Chris Stanton along with superb offensive and defensive rebounding by Tina Stanley and Darleen Talbot.

Leading the scoring for the Sonics was Chris Blake with seven points. Debbie Byrne and Lisa McLean with six each, Kelly McNamara with three and Mary Ellen Edwards and Betsy Worbel with two each.

Playing fine defense for the Sonics were Mary Williamson, Laura Boyden, Lisa Manuscoles and Janice Troy.

Appeals board grants eight variances

The Wilmington Board of Appeals disposed of eight appeals in short order on May 8, approving all appeals but the ninth one, for which no appellant appeared.

A free standing sign was approved for land at 211 Lowell Street. The appellant was the Advanced Signing Company.

Mark Melaragni, 12 Webber St., Wilmington was granted approval for a garage he plans to construct at 220 Lowell St. The garage will be allowed within the required reserve yard.

Stanley Hibbins, 16 Marion St., was granted permission to construct a garage in a required reserve side yard. Mr. Hibbins, who has a garage, wants a 30 foot by 35 foot structure, low, to house autos in and get them off the street. It was not, he said, a case of repairing cars. There were some interested neighbors present, all of whom were smiling when they left. Hibbins will send surveyor's plans, to be made, of the variance planned.

Gerry O'Reilly of Wildwood Street was granted a variance for the siting of a garage. Mr. O'Reilly has both dry and wet lands, and he wanted a garage 20 feet from the sideyard and 23 feet from the front line on dry land. It was readily granted providing the conservaiton commission approves.

Edith Barnaby, 110 Federal St., is planning to sell her home. She appeared for a variance because of a small shed 3½ feet from the back lot line. The Board of Appeals chairman noted that the lot was only 75 feet wide, and advised her that she owuld need a variance on that point too, which was granted.

Diane Summer, 2 Allston Ave., had a similar case. She too wants to sell her home and has a shed on it which has been there for years, since 1950. She did have 125 feet of frontage, because she bought land from the town. There was no difficulty in granting a variance.

Mark Holloway, 24 Liberty St. has a lot 134 feet long and 100 feet deep, next to the B & M Railroad. The home is at one end. He wants to divide the lot, so that there are two. The appeal board suggested an equal division, to which he agreed. Then he pointed out his home is only four feet from the street, so a second variance was granted at the same time.

An appeal from Steven Bottari of 2 Second St., Medford found no one present. Mr. Bottari wants permission to build a house on Christine Drive. There were a number of neighbors in attendance, who told the appeals board that the street was 23 inches too low, but Mr. Bottari was not there to talk about his case.

Wilmington Police distributing free 'Lifesaver' cards

The Wilmington Police Department is distributing the "Lifesaver Emergency Alert Card." The card, virtually indestructible, is designed to be worn in a person's shoe.

The card is intended to identify a child, an elderly person, a jogger or other person who might not carry identification. It would help locate parents or relatives in case of an emergency, provide medical information, locate the family physician, and provide parental consent for a doctor to do what is necessary to insure the safety of a child, if parents cannot be located. Emergency personnel have been notified of the cards' existence.

The card is intended to be laced into the shoe, between the laces and tongue.

Cards are available from Safety Officer Robert Shelley, or may be picked up at the Wilmington police station. The cards are free.

Plant sale

The Wilmington Women's Club will hold its Annual Plant Sale at Yentile's Farm, 9 Cross Street (off Route 129) on Saturday, May 19.

Members of the club's Conservation Committee will be at the sale from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. to assist customers.

Geraniums should be ordered in advance by calling Helen Handrahan, 658-3919. The prices will be comparable to those of last year. Flats of vegetables and other flowers will be available for purchase through the club.

Wilmington School notes

The application deadline for the position of Wilmington High School principal has passed. There are approximately 35 educators seeking the position. Candidates applying from last year's finalists include David Sweeny, Foxboro High School; Joseph Connelly, North Intermediate School; and Richard DeRosa, the current acting principal at Wilmington High School.

The process of selecting the right man for the job is a difficult one for both the superintendent and the Wilmington School Committee. The first step in the procedure is an interview with the central administration. At this time, the personal attributes, academic qualifications and general attitude of the candidate are assessed.

If the applicant has the needed qualities to pass this stage, the superintendent sets up appointments for on-site visitations. The visits give the school committee and the central office the opportunity to observe the candidate functioning in his current position. Usually, while at the applicant's place of employment, questions are asked regarding his strengths and weaknesses as an administrator.

The applicant's next step is to be selected as a finalist by the superintendent. All finalists are given a public interview by the Wilmington School Committee. The school committee, a body elected by the community, directs its questions from both aneducational and a civic point of view.

After the finalist have been interviewed and observed, the superintendent selects a candidate for her personal recommendation. By state law, only the school committee ahs the power to hire school department personnel. The superintendent's recommendation is examined by the committee and either approved or disapproved. If there are three rejections of the same candidate, the superintendent is mandated by law to recommend another candidate.

Conversely, the school committee cannot hire any personnel who do not have the recommendation of the superintendent. Chapter 70 of the Mass. General Laws acts as a check and balance system so that only the candidate that both the school committee and the superintendent agree can best meet the needs of the system is placed in the position.

The selection of a high school principal is one of the most important decisions made by a school committee. it is, as well, a difficult decision. Above all else, the main goal is, obviously, to hire the person who is the best for our system.

Wilmington police news

Edward A. Simourian, 42, of 2 Main St., Wilmington was arrested a week ago today after a computer check revealed an outstanding warrant for him issued by the Marshfield Police. He was turned over to the Marshfield Police by Officers McNally and Peterson who made the arrest.

Wednesday afternoon, after an investigation of an accident on Main Street near Grove Avenue, Officer Larry Redding arrested Robert Jennings, 46, of 4 Moore St., Wilmington. Jennings wsa charged with operating under the influence, and failure to keep to the right of the road. In Woburn Court Thursday he requested a trail with a six man jury in Lowell. The case was continued to May 25.

Two motor default arrests included John McCarthy of 7 Stone St., Wilmington on a default warrant issued by the Woburn Court. The arrest was by Officer McCue. Donna Travers, 23, of 8 Memorial Dr., Twksbury was arrested by Officer Chris Neville on a Lowell Court default.

Charles Lesage, 19, of 33 Everett Ave., Somerville ws arrested Friday morning after being stopped on Main Street by Officers Peterson and King. He was charged with operating under, failing to drive within marked lanes, and falsely procuring a Massachusetts driver's license. In court Friday morning he had his case continued to May 25 for an attorney's appearance.

Ismael Ferrar, 34, of 10 Royal St., Lowell was arrested on liquor charges by Officer Chris Neville Saturday evening. He was charged with operating under the influence of liquor. In court Monday he exercised his right for a jury trial in Lowell with a six person jury. His case was continued in Lowell to June 1.

John F. Kelly, 56, of 286 School St., Watertown was arrested Sunday evening by Officer David McCue, for operating under the influence, and failing to keep within marked lanes. He was bailed for a Monday appearance in Woburn Court, where he plead guilty to both charges. Kelly requested the alcohol driver safety program.

Early Monday morning after investigating an accident on Pinewood Road, Officer Pat King arrested Kenneth R. Wells, 21, of 14 Pinewood Rd. Wells was charged with operating under the influence, and was bailed for a Monday court appearance, at which he continued his case to May 21 for a conference.

Two men arrested on Tewksbury motor default warrants were Michael O'Conner of 15 Oak St., and Harold Giuffre of 108 Elm St., both of Tewksbury. The arrests were by Officers Neville and Peterson. David Stanton, of 88 Beechland Ave., Revere, was arrested by Officer Pat King on a warrant issued by the Chelsea Court.

There were four accidents in Wilmington during the past week, 11 arrests and five disturbances. One case of assistance to another department, and four cases of medical assistance.

One larceny was reported, two cases of protective custody, two cases of stolen vehicles, seven reports of suspicious activity and three trail bike complaints were reported. There were three traffic complaints and six cases of vandalism reported.

Twenty-one alarms were logged during the week. There was one case of assault and battery, three calls for domestic problems, and five cases reported of missing persons.

Wilmington senior topics

Hearing aid consultant

Fred, the hearing aid consultant will be at the Drop-in Center Friday morning, May 11 at 10. He will be checking the hearing and hearing aids of seniors.

One minibus can't be everywhere!

It seems to be necessary to inform seniors that there is only one minibus and it cannot be everywhere at once. If all seniors needing transportation are to be satisfied, a greater amount of cooperation is necessary. Please check to see whether the doctor involved has an appointment with another local senior the same week and request an appointment around that time and day. Inform the doctor that transportation is needed by minibus. Those having their own transportation are asked to please use it. It is not possible to take more than one bundle when shopping, which can be held on the lap. Bundles in the walk space of the bus could cause accidents.

Doctors and hospital visits are first priority for the minibus. If everyone cooperates, everyone will be served.

Arts and crafts

The arts and crafts sessions are held in the Drop-in Center every Tuesday and Thursday morning from 10 to noon. The women are working together on beautiful articles which will be sold at the senior citizen fair. The proceeds will be used for articles for the center, that the budget can't afford such as vacuum cleaners, tv sets, sewing machines, etc. It also pays for the arts and crafts picnic in July. Anyone who has the time and enjoys making things, is invited to join the group.

Telecommunications

The Town of Wilmington has installed a telecommunications device for the deaf (T.D.D.) located in the police department. The T.D.D. number is 657-8368.

Preparing for Mother's Day

Five Generations

By JUDITH TORKILDSEN

When Gail Faller goes shopping, most likely she's not alone.

On a given shopping day, Agnes, Alice, Susan and Nicole can be seen flanking her side.

As a fivesome, they're hard to miss. Not only do their ages span 80 years, but they have an identifying mark sure to stand out in a crowd. From great great grandmother, right on down to great great granddaughter, all wear running shoes — Nike's.

But what can be seen by the eye is just an inkling of a family that's not your average clan.

Upon sitting down and talking with them, one learns this kind of family, by any generation's standards, is uncommonly close.

Agnes, Alice, Gail, Susan and Nicole are five generations in a family where all were firstborn children, all daughters. Agnes, who's 80, is considered by her daughter, granddaughter and great granddaughter (8½-month-old Nicole, her great great granddaughter, didn't have much to say on the matter) to be the center or, one might say, glue that holds the family together.

Or maybe better said, she got the family off to the kind of start it did and maintains it on a day-to-day basis.

Agnes Goucher is a world traveler. She's been to Hawaii seven times and Europe twice, as well as making trips to London, Canada, Las Vegas and Atlantic City, to name a few.

Back in 1970, while on a trip to Ireland, she purchased an Irish Sweepstakes ticket that later proved to be a winner.

After arriving back in the states, she said, she got a long distance call informing her she'd won $120,000.

Agnes smiles as she recounts what became of the money:

"I bought Gail a car, gave four grandchildren money to put down on a house, took four sisters and two daughters to Hawaii, and gave four grandchildren $6000," she said.

Eyes twinkling, she adds, "If they want to know how much money I have left?" She stops and then after a pregnant pause lowers her head and says emphatically, "None!"

Her response in both giving away her winnings and the way in which she relates the story is indicative of the woman.

Her wit is one of the things that keeps Alice, 64, Gail, 37, and Susan, 19, on their toes. And her commitment to them, they relate in stories more than words, has a lot to do with their closeness as an extended family today.

Agnes Goucher is a resident of Woburn. Her daughter, Alice Leary, lives in Burlington. Alice's daughter, Gail, lives in Reading, and Gail's daughter, Susan Tapley, and her daughter, Nicole, live in Lynn.

Although all of the women contend it would be hard for each one of them to talk to each one of the others every day, they come pretty close.

Nodding her head to emphasize the statement is correct, Gail says, "We all talk to each other every day, usually at least twice a day."

Susan calls her grandmother Alice twice a day while Alice calls her mother Agnes twice a day. Gail also calls Alice, usually once a day, "but sometimes twice" she adds. Gail also calls her daughter Susan who lives in Lynn because "it costs her to call me."

Agnes is then asked who she calls while everyone else is calling each other, to which the matriarch of the family responds with arms crossed in a decided manner, "If they're not calling me, I'm calling them."

But the family will testify to some genuine problems that arise in a family of habitual chatters.

Sometimes, Agnes testifies, if she's talking on the phone and someone comes to the door, she might put the phone down, get absorbed in another conversation and forget about her phone call.

If that happens the rest of the clan rushes over to make sure "Grammy's" alright.

Gail says common interests help bring the family together. Shopping is one of their favorite ones.

"I love to go to yard sales," Agnes says. "In fact, I got this blouse at a yard sale," she says as she points to the pink blouse she is wearing.

Holidays, too, are an event that always finds them together along with the rest of their families.

All of the women pause as they consider the answer to the next question of whether they'll be doing anything out of the ordinary for Mother's Day.

FM TALK: The following is by no means literary prestidigitation. It is, in fact, the real thing:

If you happen to tune into the Sports Channel and hear a fellow by the name of Ferullo calling the races at Suffolk Downs, he isn't yours truly. He's actually my uncle, Dr. Robert J. Ferullo, of Woburn, who also happens to be chairman of the Speech and Audiology Department at Northeastern University. Can there really be another Howard Cosell on the sportscasting horizon? Creative fundraising workshops

A small college sold phony shares in a campus landmark, the old water tower, and raised over $80,000. A town in Oregon sold potholes to residents for $10 each. Twenty dollars got you a photograph of your pothole and your name engraved on the asphalt used to fill it.

The Better Business Bureau Foundation in Buffalo, N.Y., sponsored an "un-luncheon" at $20 a plate. Contributors mailed back a card that said: "Yes! I'd love to miss the First Annual Better Business Bureau Foundation 'un-luncheon', 12 noon, Sept. 32, at a prominent downtown hotel. Even though I'll be eating lunch somewhere else that day, I wish to reserve--places at $20 per plate in support of the BBB."

In hundreds of ways, fundraisers for non-profit agencies are learning how to be more creative. Creative fundraising is the subject of a week-long workshop to be held from May 7 to 11, 1984 in Boston. The workshop will be conducted by The Grantsmanship Center, the country's oldest and largest fundraising training organization. During its eleven year history, the Center has trained more than 30,000 nonprofit and government agency staff members.

"There are more than 250,000 nonprofit agencies competing for charitable dollars," says Norton Kiritz, Grantsmanship Center President. "But that's not the complete story," he adds. "Now government agencies are also looking for private contributions. For example, public school districts that create fundraising foundations raise almost ten times as much in private contributions as those that don't."

With both government and private agencies competing for dollars, fundraising training is in much demand. That's why the Wheelock College decided to sponsor this local workshop. The program is open to representatives of any agency in the community. There is a tuition charge, and scholarships are available for organizations with small budgets. Information on the fundraising workshop can be obtained from Ms. Bonnie Meltzer at the Wheelock College, (617) 734-5200 or by calling The Grantsmanship Center's toll free number (800) 421-9512

Unique outings for groups

A visit to the Codman House in Lincoln offers groups an unusual opportunity for a glimpse of the past through unique activities. Clubs, organizations, or any group of ten or more people may arrange a tour of the formal garden as well as of the mansion, afternoon tea on the piazza, or meetings and social gatherings in the newly renovated carriage house.

Codman House, built c.1741 is preserved as it was when the Codman family lived there. All of their possessions, including furniture, paintings, and personal artifacts, remain intact. The grounds as well are maintained as the Codmans planned. Of special interest is the formal garden which was completed in 1901 in the style of an Italian Renaissance villa garden.

An important part of the Codmans' leisurely lifestyle was afternoon tea. Visitors may partake of this luxurious custom as part of their tour of the estate. Costumed hostesses serve tea, scones made from Dorothy Codman's recipe, jam and cream on the house piazza overlooking the estate.

The newly renovated Codman Carriage House is now available for meetings and social functions. This turn-of-the-century building which used to house the estate's elegant carriages can accommodate up to 65 people. Complete with modern kitchen and restroom facilities, the Carriage House suits the needs of clubs, organizations, businesses, and private parties.

For further information and rates, call 259-8843. Reservations for tours, tea, and functions are now being accepted for May through October.

At Wilmington High School

"A mock drunk trial"

By JUDITH TORKILDSEN

A case was tried in Wilmington District Court last week that left the jury, defendant, and court spectators in a different frame of mind about their upcoming school proms.

In the case, The Commonwealth vs. James Bradshaw, a high school student was found guilty of driving under the influence and was sentenced to three months in the House of Correction, with 15 days to be served.

Spectators watched as the sandy-haired defendant then had his license revoked, was handcuffed and led out of the courtroom.

But unlike a real trial, the judge stood up at the end and asked the spectators if they had any questions about what they'd just witnessed.

Last week's trial at "Wilmington District Court" was actually a mock trial, presented at Wilmington High School to give students a firsthand opportunity to witness the legal consequences of driving drunk.

The judge addressed the gymnasium overflowing with students: "The Chief Justice sent me in here with an assignment today," Justice Frederick Gilgun said. "However often you do it, it still isn't easy when you do it.."

He continued, "But to you, the students....you're the ones who should be commended for your performance today. Your conduct here today is a credit to the school and a credit to the town."

The idea for the trial originated in the minds of two Wilmington Policemen, Safety Officer Robert Shelley and Juvenile Officer Robert Spencer.

Although the Wilmington Police Department has been involved in several programs with the high school, they saw the mock trial as something different.

"We thought to do something like this for the student body of Wilmington High because of prom time, Officer Shelley said.

"Also, it's in conjunction with their graduation that's coming up," he added.

"We got the sanction to do this first from our Chief of Police," Shelley said. The next step, he said, was bringing the idea before the School Committee.

Shelley said the result was a unanimous decision to do the mock trial.

But it didn't stop there. Once Boston Cable heard about the trial, the scope of the project broadened.

The result was that the trial that took place is just a segment of a program that will show the whole story of Bradshaw's case, from his leaving school, to drinking with his friends, to his arrest and trial.

The program will be aired on Boston Cable's Local Origination Channel, 6, on two dates, May 17 and 23 at 8 p.m. And it's no coincidence the dates coincide with the dates of the high school's junior and senior proms.

"What was done here was to impress on kids what can happen when you drive and drink," Stephen Kostant, program manager for Boston Cable said.

All of the participants, except for the defendant and the jury (the part of James Bradshaw was played by student Frank Carta) acted out roles of the jobs they hold in real life.

Judge Gilgun, who presided over the trial is from Marlborough District Court; Mr. James Henchey, an attorney from Woburn, acted as the Defense Counsel; Assistant District Attorney Anthony Pelusi, Jr. from the Middlesex County District Attorney's Office prosecuted the case for the Commonwealth; Paul Burke from the Woburn District Court played the part of the Clerk Magistrate; and Daniel Harrington from the Probation department of the Woburn District Court served as the probation officer.

Wilmington Police Officers Shelley and Spencer served as court officers; Officer William Gable testified as the arresting officer; and Lt. Robert LaRivee testified as the Officer in Charge of the police station and administer of the Breathalyzer test.

Although last week's case in "Wilmington District Court" found Bradshaw guilty of driving under the influence, the results could have been different.

The 13 member student jury could have decided either way. But after about 15 minutes of deliberations, the jurors had reached their verdict. Bradshaw was guilty.

After the trial, some of the jurors related how some testimony presented by Bradshaw's defense almost swayed some of them in the other direction.

But the students said they felt good about the fact that the evidence challenged them in reaching a verdict.

"If someone got killed, that would have been too obvious," Kathleen Howard, a junior at Wilmington High and a member of the jury said.

"With a kid getting convicted, we'll think about it more. He was a clean cut kid."

Like Howard, the other student jurors interviewed said they thought the trial was an effective way of getting the message across.

When asked if what they saw will affect what they do on prom night, they all resounded with a big "yes."

STUDENTS ON LOCATION FILMING a scene from the upcoming Boston Cable special. The program is about what happens to a high school student who is arrested for drunk driving. The program will air on Channel 6 (Local Origination) on May 17 and 23 at 8 p.m.

LACING UP FOR ACTION, this five generation family of first born daughters believes in doing things together. But in case you're wondering....they don't run marathons together. They're probably just getting ready for the next big shopping spree.

Mothers Day from S-1

But before they can answer, Agnes turns to Gail and interjects, "She (the interviewer) means, 'What are you going to buy me for Mother's Day?' "

They smile and now it's Gail's turn to interject something. Pointing to her grandmother, she adds, "We all got a lecture at Easter how we could do better, instead of buying her chintzy things."

Turning to her grandmother, she says, "We'll get you new Nike's for Mother's Day."

For Agnes, being close and involved in her family's life is not unusual. To her, what is unusual, is when she hears of families not being close.

"I hear so many say 'I haven't seen my son or daughter for so long.' I often wonder why. Mine are always at the door, " she says.

"I think my grandmother has always done for us," Gail adds. "When I was little I remember her going into Dollar Day and always bringing something home for us."

When asked what has been her secret for the closeness in her family, Agnes says, "I couldn't really put my finger on it. I often wonder myself." She pauses and then adds, "I don't think there's a day gone by where I don't talk to my kids."

With the interview drawing to a close, Susan, Agnes' great granddaughter says it's time for her and baby Nicole to head home.

As she heads out the door, another voice comes into the conversation. This time it's Alice's.

"I'll call you," she hollers to Susan.

"See what we mean?" Gail says.

HANDBELL CONCERT

The Old South Bell Choir, directed by JoAnn Hodgkins, cordially invite you to a concert of Handbell music on Saturday, May 19th at 8 p.m. in the Sanctuary of Old South United Methodist Church, Reading Common. For information call Ann Chalk, 944-9082.

SPRING DANCE

One starry evening in May, Drumlin Farm's new barn will come alive with music at their second annual Spring Dance. On Saturday, May 12, from 8:00 — 11:30 p.m. get out your country dancing shoes and celebrate the return of spring to New England.

The Contra-Diversity Band will liven up the night with their dance music, mini-concert and even some storytelling. When your feet get too tired for dancing, step outside the barn and take a hayride under a moon that will be almost full.

Cold drinks and munchies will keep you going, as will the mooing and braying of the farm animals who will try to join in the celebrating. On a night like this, there's nowhere else to be but down on Drumlin Farm.

For ticket information, please call 259-9807, Tuesday — Friday, 10:00 a.m. — 4:00 p.m. Tickets can only be purchased in advance, there will be no tickets sold at the door.

DINOSAUR DANCE

Brilliantly displaying the expressionistic mastery of Artistic Director and resident choreographer Michael Mao, the Dinosaur Dance Company will present his two new works in their second Spring series, May 11 — 13 at The Dinosaur Space.

Mao will premiere a solo piece titled "Unaccompanied" set to Bach, and an exciting dance drama for the entire company, "O Brave New World", choreographed to Bartok's Piano Concerto 1. This provocative work depicts the hedonism, violence and angst of contemporary street life.

Performances will be given at 8:00 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, and at 2:00 p.m. on Sunday.

Tickets for Dinosaur Dance Company are $6.00 general admission. The Dinosaur

WOMEN AGLOW

The Lexington Chapter of Women's Aglow Fellowship, a worldwide interdenominational organization of renewed Christian women will hold their monthly meeting on Friday, May 11 at 9:30 A.M., at the Elks Lodge, 959 Waltham Street, Lexington. (from Rte. 2 — Waltham St.-Spring St. Exit). Speaker will be Barbara Mattscheck, topic is "healing with signs and wonders." For further information call Charlotte 933-6512 or Joan 444-6619. Free admission. Nursery provided.

FREE OF CHARGE

Boston University is offering hundreds of courses free of charge to elders (age 60 or older) on a space-available basis for non-credit participation and a registration fee of $10 per course.

Classes begin May 15. Registration takes place at 118 Bay State Road, 9:00 A.M. to 5:00 P.M., or call Boston University's Office of Continuing Education at (617) 353-4128.

COMPUTER PROGRAMS

"Basic-ly for Kids," a computer program which gained wide popularity last Fall when it was inaugurated at Bunker Hill Community College in Boston, will again be offered during the Summer semester.

The course introduces children nine to 12 years of age to various computer programming and hardware concepts and has a strong "hands-on" orientation. Students learn by doing as they actually operate and program the college's interactive computer system designed especially for the course. Upon completion, the students take a complete tour of the college's computer facility and receive a certificate.

During the course, the youngsters learn a computer vocabulary which includes such things as input and output devices, storage of materials, programs, hardware, software, etc.

Courses in Part I will be offered June 11-27, 12-28, July 9-25, 10-26. Part II will be offered July 9-25.

Many parents will be able to schedule some of the 200 other courses available during the Summer session while their children work on the computers.

Registration will be held on various dates between May 10-31. Late registration will also be available.

For more information, call the Division of Continuing Education, 241-8600, ext. 444.

PAJAMA GAME AT PA

"The Pajama Game," by Abbot and Bissell, music by Adler and Ross, will be staged by the Phillips Academy Theater Department on Friday, May 18 and Saturday, May 19 at 8 p.m. in George Washington Hall. Several local students are featured in the hit musical of 30 years ago, which is presented by arrangement with Music Theatre International. Reserved seats are available this week for $3, $2 for students, faculty and senior citizens, from School Receptionist Dickie Thiras, or the PA Theatre Department. Tickets also will be sold at the door for $2 and $1, while available.

A classic 50's musical, "The Pajama Game" concerns itself, semi-seriously, with a union-management battle in a pajama factory over a one-and-a-half-cent raise.

"The female romantic lead is head of the union grievance committee and the male romantic lead is the plant supervisor, so itt sets up conflict marvelously," says PA director Tim Hillman. "The union is fighting for a 7½ cent raise that all the other pajama factories have, and the women are ready to walk out. At the end of the first act, Sid fires Babe. In the '50sss, people weren't deadly serious about these issues, so this is a mock-serious musical. In fact, it's all pure fun."

Andover residents Hilary Feier, Anna Sibley, Jeremy Payne, Michelle Kluck and Steve Shrestian are in the cast. Hilary plays Mabel, Sid's secretary; Anna Sibley provides comic relief as Poopsie, Steve Shrestinian is Pres, the union's president; Michelle Kluck will be dancing and Jeremy Payne is in the chorus.

This will be the last play at Phillips Academy for Tim Hillman, who will leave the academy after June to take the position of Theater Director at the Buckley School in Los Angeles. He has directeeed a number of plays in his four years at PA, notably "Shadow Box," by Michael Christofer, Agatha Christie's "Ten Little Indians," and "Little Murders" by Jules Feiffer.

Retired Men's Club microfilm old records

When an ad hoc committee met at the home of P.P. Robert W. Sproul in January '82 to make plans for the observance of Wakefield Retired Men's Club 20th anniversary, no one present could have known that, in April '84, the Lucius Beebe Memorial Library would become custodian of a microfilmed history of the Club's first 20 years. The late Jim Buckley had made the initial contact with Director Gilley and it was presumed he would be the presentor. Herewith are excerpts of Club Historian Malcolm Choate's presentation: On the occasion of our 20th anniversary, an inventory revealed over 1300 pages of published and taped records. They were and are in my custody, which caused me to become concerned. Should misfortune strike me or my home, these valuable records might be lost forever.

Our wonderful friend, the late Jim Buckley, had a solution. Microfilming was his plan and with diplomacy, diligence and determination, he brought it about. Spaulding Company, for whom Jim worked most of his life, did the microfilming. At a Retired Men's Club meeting in October '83 (arranged by Jim), Walter Tillinghast, Executive Vice-President and George McKinney, Vice-President in charge of Microfilm Laboratories, Spaulding Co., Inc. presented one small reel, plus two copies, to the Club in memory of Jim Buckley, a most valued employee and wonderful friend, who passed on just two days before.

It was the unanimous recommendation of our Executive Board that a copy be placed in the local Library, so that members and others who might be interested in the history of our 'not too old' Club could learn of past programs. It is with the greatest pleasure and in behalf of the Retired Men's Club of Wakefield that I present this microfilm to Sharon Gilley, Director, Beebe Library, Wakefield, Massachusetts.

After a photographic pause, Ms. Gilley responded graciously and succintly, quoting: "I would like to thank you all, on behalf of the Board of Library Trustees and the community of Wakefield. We are very pleased and proud to be asked to be guardians of your history.thank you." In response to a specific request, Ms. Gilley spoke for several minutes on NOBLE, an acronym for North Of Boston Library Exchange. This telephonic computerized network links the following: Peabody, Wakefield, Lynnfield, Danvers, Beverly, (the original five) and a year later, Reading, Lynn, Marblehead, Swampscott and North Shore Community College joined the cluster. Transfer of card file info on 70,000 volumes and pertinent facts on several thousand patrons to a computer data base, required eighteen months to complete. A a result of sharing pooled information contained in computer memory banks, Wakefield patrons have access to 426 volumes, when searching for a particular item in fields of art, literature or music. After little more than a year of experience, it would seem that library science is a prime example of the beneficial use of computers. Among positive results enumerated by Ms. Gilley, the following numbers stood out: annual loss before computer tie-in was $27,000 and $6,000 after; total annual fines before was $3,500 and $12,000 after. Rather good news to the Town Finance Committee and every taxpayer.

Health Center offers stress courses

WILMINGTON — In recognition of May as National High Blood Pressure Month, The Regional Health Center in Wilmington is offering community health education programs aimed at blood pressure control.

According to the Massachusetts Department of Public Health, the state has experienced a dramatic decline in death from hypertension-related heart disease over the past decade. National surveys also indicate that more Americans are aware of hypertension., its dangers and that it can be treated effectively.

"One of the major risk factors of heart disease is high blood pressure. Most of the risk factors, including smoking, lack of exercise, high cholesterol, diabetes, salt and fat intake, obesity and stress can be lowered by lifestyle changes," according to Henry Maltz, M.D., board-certified internist who practices in Tewksbury. He believes that one can significantly decrease risk of heart disease and hypertension by making minor changes.

Community health education programs for May include:

BLOOD PRESSURE UPDATE — Henry Maltz, M.D. and Eleanor Entin, R.N., health educator will discuss medical and non-medical (lifestyle change) treatments for high blood pressure. Monday, May 21; 7:30 to 9 p.m. Free and open to the public. Call for appointment for blood pressure check and individual lifestyle counseling prior to program.

SAVORY LOW SALT COOKING — Recipes, tips, techniques and taste-testing for delicious low sodium cooking. Presented by the health care specialist-registered dietitician from Diamond Crystal Salt Co. Wednesday, May 9; 7 to 9 p.m. Free and open to the public by reservations. (Call for blood presure screening prior to program.)

BLOOD PRESSURE SCREENING includes height-weight, individual lifestyle counseling and risk assessment for heart disease by an R.N. Monday, May 21 or Wednesday, May 9; 4 to 7 p.m. by appointment only.

MANAGING YOUR STRESS includes discovering personal sources of stress; how stress affects the body and tips for managing stress. Tuesdays, May 15, 22, 29 and June 5; 7 to 9 p.m.

RELAXATION TRAINING — Learn to reduce stress and high blood pressure while improving sleep, smoking and eating habits, and energy level through various relaxation techniques in a fun, practical and informative workshop. Taught by a licensed social worker. Wednesdays, May 23, 30, June 6, 13; 7 to 8:30 p.m. Includes relaxation training and materials.

All courses and programs require pre-registration by calling 657-8920, ext. 567.

Most courses hold a limited number of participants and registration is accepted on a first come, first serve basis.

The Regional Health Center is a division of Choate-Symmes Health Services, Inc.

Winchester Red Cross offers two scholarships

The Winchester Chapter of the American Red Cross is pleased to announce it will once again offer two full scholarships to the New England Red Cross Aquatic, First Aid and Small Craft Schools. There will be two schools held June 10th through June 19th h at Camp Mah-Kee-Nac in Lenox, Mass. and Camp Tevya in Brookline, New Hampshire.

These schools offer training and certification in water safety, first aid and instructor authorization in those same areas. The courses are taught by experts in those areas: Red Cross volunteers and staff with many years of service.

New this year is the Red Cross course in Lifeguarding. This program prepares individuals to manage water-front environments of various types and sizes. There will be a special 5 day program for this course for people who qualify.

To be eligible for these schools, all applicants must be 17 years of age prior to the beginning of school, certified by a physician to be in sound physical condition, and hold swimmer level certification or have the equivalent skills.

To obtain a brochure and application form, please contact the Winchester Chapter at 729-2300 or the Region office at 665-1351.

Stalking the wild: a mushroom hunter shares her secrets

Miss Marivigna likes her fungi fit for a Caesar — or baked to inedibility

By John Edward Young
Staff writer of The Christian Science Monitor

Winchester, Mass.

Maria Marivigna — known affectionately as "The Mushroom Lady" — has a special recipe for her favorite "fungi."

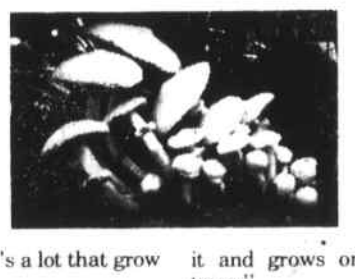

She carefully glazes them, stands them upright in an oven, and bakes them at 1,500 to 2,000 degrees F. for 8 to 10 hours.

They come out of the oven just the way she likes them. Perfectly done, hard as rocks, beautiful — and inedible, of course.

Miss Marivigna, you see, is an artist and ceramist of international fame. And when she isn't molding the botanically correct species out of clay, she's scurrying over wood and dale like a little Beatrix Potter creature, armed with trowel and basket, and usually with a string of wide-eyed enthusiasts in tow.

"Come, I show you," she says, grabbing my arm and pulling me out into her backyard.

"Look here. When you see the mushroom on the tree like this, it's too late. No tree can survive the mushroom," she adds, fingering a budding cluster of Pleurotus ostreatus — oyster mushrooms — on an old elm tree between her yard and a neighbor's. "They taste very nice. There were some nice big ones here the other day, but someone took them away," she says, showing little concern for the loss of the mushrooms or even the tree.

A snooping neighbor may have beat her to this batch, but Miss Marivigna has a nose for sniffing out a mushroom's secret hiding place.

"I get a lot up the street in the cemetery," she whispers, her bright gray eyes twinkling. "There's a lot that grow under the oak trees up there."

Back in the house, a visitor is never out of sight of something emblazoned with a mushroom motif. On the knotty-pine porch, we sat under a large Italian poster brightly splashed with mushroom photographs.

"Guide per chi va a cercare I funghi. A guide for those who go looking for mushrooms," Miss Marivigna translates, pointing out word after word.

"And over on that wall is a plastic shopping bag with pictures of mushrooms. Very nice. From Sweden. No, from Poland," she corrects herself. On another wall a mushroom tea towel from France is neatly tacked up. And of course her exquisite ceramics stand in every available niche.

After weekly field trips with members of the Boston Mycological Club, she helps identify the species and saves new varieties to sculpture.

Inedible ones are tossed in the trash. Edible ones are tossed in a frying pan.

"I like to fry them in a little good olive oil very slowly, with maybe just a bit of fresh tomato, basil, and garlic," she says. "Garlic is very good with the mushrooms. Then I eat them plain or put them on the pasta. If I don't use them right away, I just freeze them. They freeze perfectly. Maybe I give you some to take home," she says in her soft Sicilian accent.

"What about the common white mushrooms, Agaricus bisporus, found in the supermarket? Do you ever cook with them or substitute them in your recipes? Or the shiitakes, ever cook with either of them in the winter when you can't get out to get wild ones?" I ask.

"No."

Miss Marivigna might not substitute the store-bought variety for wild mushrooms, but other members of the mycological club do.

Her favorite wild varieties?

"Ah, Polyporus frondosus. The cauliflower mushroom," she says with enthusiasm. "Delicious. Maybe I have some downstairs in the freezer I give you to take home. Also I like Sulphureus polyporus. They call it the chicken of the mushroom world. It tastes like white meat of the chicken when you cook it and grows on almost all kinds of trees."

Mushrooms may be a way of life with Miss Marivigna, but she doesn't take them quite as seriously as the ancient Romans did.

Holding up a stand of bright orange-capped ceramic mushrooms, she relates a bit of history: "This one, Amanita caesarea, they call 'Food of the gods.' So delicious only the Caesars were allowed to eat them — under penalty of death. You find it around here, but not too many."

Although most of the 2,000-odd wild mushrooms are indeed edible, Miss Marivigna recommends joining a mycological club if you're interested in eating the ones you pursue.

"If you don't know the mushroom, leave it alone or you could get into trouble," she warns. If you don't trust yourself to hunt them, several varieties can be found in specialty shops around the country, all carefully gathered and identified.

Friends of Animals seek boycott

A boycott of tuna and salmon to protest the kill of porpoise in huge fishing nets is being promoted by members of Friends of Animals, Inc., the national animal protection society.

Reports issued by the U.S. Department of Commerce show that 1,649,189 porpoise died in the purse-seine nets used in tuna fishing in the last ten years, said Alice Herrington, president of the nonprofit group. Ms. Herrington said that Commerce also reports that the Japanese, while fishing for salmon in U.S. waters, kill thousands of Dall porpoise in their trawler gillnets, the figure for 1982 being in excess of 5,000. The State Department, she added, reports that millions of sea-birds are also killed.

"Our members are asking Congress to amend the Marine Mammal Protection Act of 1972 to outlaw nets, thereby forcing the corporate fishing industry to return to longlining, a technique which does not harm marine mammals," Ms. Herrington explained. "We expect fishermen to support the request since longlining employs far more people than are hired for netting."

The president of the national animal protection society described longlining as akin to a fishing pole with a hook at the end, "except that for deep-sea fishing there are dozens of hooks and they plumb the depths below the porpoise, an air-breathing mammal which stays close to the surface.

"Discarded and lost netting, which the Department of Commerce says is in the millions of tons, is also killing marine mammals of all species and since it is made of plastic, it does not disintegrate," she continued.

"Over-fishing is also shown in Commerce's reports since the nets take all kinds of fish, edible and not, the undersized fish along with the marketable fish, and that is an additional reason for banning nets," she said.

"In the past ten years the fishing corporations have experimented with net modifications aimed at releasing porpoise, but this turns out to be simply a public relations gimmick since the harrassment itself kills, causes females to abort, and the same porpoise is netted and released, netted and released until it is dead.

Retired Men's Club

After a question and answer period, Ms. Gilley introduced Charlotte Thompson of the Adult Services Desk. When asked what that was, Charlotte replied, "I help you find a good book." Whereupon, she reviewed, as much as time would permit, four current 'good books.' Her treatment of 'Russia' by David Shipler was so interesting, that most everyone wanted to be first in line at checkout. The author was a New York Times, Moscow reporter. 'The French' by Theodore Zeldin, should be read for it's lighthearted humor, comedy and jokes. Many customs we oft associate with the French did not originate in France at all. 'The Japanese Mind' by Christopher is a work that should be read carefully by Americans, we were told. The fourth and final book reviewed was 'The Africans' by David Lamb. He was a UPI reporter in Vietnam and spent four to five years in several African countries before writing this book. Ms. Thompson commented that, if we read just one of the four, The Africans should be that one. Her offering was so well received that many members have expressed the desire for a repeat visit. So, a tip o' the hat and a big thank you, Sharon!

The time honored opening exercises dispensed with, Ray Smart was permitted to thank all who provided security at the antique show and sale at the church. They were messrs: DePloey, DeVeau, Ehlert, Hayward, LeFave, Lyons, Mathias, Merrill, Murphy, Perreault, Simonian, Smart, Swezey, Taylor, Thomas, Tuttle, Waterman, Webber and C. Nelson Phinney who covered for temporarily disabled Bob Sproul. With apologies to John Griffin, President Wentzel announced that Harold Edgett, George Riedeman and Ed Lynch were present and no longer on the sick list. Three visitors were part of the 292 attendees: H. Feiffert, Everett, Carl H. Peterson, Wakefield, and Donald Winson, Lynnfield, were accorded the usual new member greeting. Second V.P. George Richards' birthday list was answered by nine of 21 and the Bob Sproul led greeting ensued. Immediate P.Pres. Coughlan's door prizes were won by Earl Gould, Stoneham, and John Roberts, Melrose. Several announcements by the President and routine reports of sub-group chairmen brought the business portion of the meeting to a close.

affectionately known by many, don't let him kid you about where he learned his craft; I taught him everything he knows. And if you're reading this, Doc, the book is in the mail!

If any of you readers have ever had difficulty figuring out what I'm trying to say in my column, your problem will seem insignificant after you consider the following message a public relations person for Ma Bell attempted to get across to their customers in one of their leaflets: "If you unplug a non-working phone and replace it with another phone that will work, the problem is most likely with the phone that doesn't work." And the phone company wonders why some of us customers are having a hard time understanding the telephone company break-up!

On a serious note, I was, to be honest, surprised by the results of the recent survey on the state of health of Americans, commissioned by Prevention Magazine and conducted by Louis Harris, which revealed that more than two-thirds of us aren't smoking; roughly the same number of us aren't driving after we've been drinking alcohol; and at least half of us are trying to regulate our intake of sugar and sodium.

Frankly, as I've already said, I'm surprised. You get the impression from all the cigarette ads, liquor establishments and fast-food chains around town that we Americans are slowly self-destructing ourselves into an oblivion of poor health. I tend to agree with at least the part of the survey that indicates that our liquor consumption is down. According to statistics released by the liquor industry itself, the sale of hard liquor and liquers was down 1 percent last year for the third straight year, and the trend seems to be continuing.

"The biggest reason for the decline in drinking," noted the manager of a local drinking establishment and restaurant over a recent dinner, "is the national crackdown on drunk driving. People are still going out on the town, but they're not overindulging as much. They know that if they're caught driving under the influence, it's going to cost them their driver's license, a lot of money and maybe their job."

The liquor industry's own numbers support this bar manager's assessment: last year the sale of bourbon was down 6.1 percent, and blended whiskey was down 8.4 percent. In the last ten years, blended whiskey has gone from 31 percent of all liquor sold to 8 percent of the total sales.

On the other hand, the use of drugs is on the increase again. Although the Harris survey did not include this as a factor in the way Americans are watching — or not watching — their health, drug use definitely has an impact on the way we feel. The National Institute of Drug Abuse notes that an estimated 4.2 million Americans use cocaine regularly, and that 800,000 use it five to twenty times a month.

Moving on to other bits and pieces: Cable tv, if you haven't already heard, is once again creating a lot of controversy in many big cities across the country. This time the squabbling isn't between cable companies looking to take hold of lucrative markets; it's between the cable companies that already have made their way into those markets and city fathers. Some cable companies are discovering that they may have made too many promises in order to get contracts to wire cities and now want to cut back on the number of channels, put off or completely ditch two-way features such as home shopping and banking, eliminate or reduce free service to municipal and public institutions and increase rates. This could also spell trouble for thousands of local access channels. One cable company, Warner Amex, claims it lost nearly $100 million last year due to expectations that fell far short of what they originally thought they were capable of accomplishing.

Networking television isn't completely free of controversy either. James C. McKinney, chief of the FCC's Mass. Media Bureau, spoke before the National Association of Broadcasters recently on viewers' complaints about overloud tv commercials. Up till now, he said, claims were being made that viewers only imagined a difference in sound between regular programming and commercials, but a new device developed by the NAB and CBS has proved that there is indeed a difference. According to McKinney, it doesn't matter what this device shows, however, since no proposals are in the works to eliminate the difference.

While on the subject of tv commercials, consider how much money was spent on tv commercials by the fast food industry last year: according to Consumer Digest, McDonald's Corp., Burger King Corp. and Wendy's International spent more than $318 million to convince us to eat their food. That's an average of $871,000 a day! By the way, none of these companies were singled out by the FCC as necessarily being among the culprits in the overloud tv commercial controversy.

One final item: Interested in knowing what the three democratic hopefuls have spent in their quest for the presidency? According to the Federal Election Commission, in Washington, they have spent thus far a whopping $44,318,750! Individually, the breakdown is as follows: Walter Mondale, $22,330,417; Gary Hart, $12,016,565; and Jesse Jackson, $2,230,548. Ronald Reagan, who is running unopposed in his bid for the GOP nod, had himself already spent a tidy $7,741,220. Your budget problems may never again seem insurmountable.

"Keep a watchful eye over yourself as if you were your own enemy; for you cannot learn to govern yourself, unless you first learn to govern your own passions and obey the dictates of your conscience." — Kahlil Gibran totally enforceable," Ms. Herrington said. "The U.S. must verify that no ship enters or leaves a U.S. port or fishes in U.S. waters with any gear except longlines. And, since a law is already on the books to ban the importation of fish from any nation which does not adhere to U.S. fishing regulations, and since every fishing nation wants to sell in the U.S., the longline law would cause all nations to convert to longlining." She added that many nations' ships are already equipped with longlines.

Make it a good week.

Testimony of Captain Jacques Cousteau to Congress in 1970 was cited by Friends of Animals. Cousteau had warned "the oceans are dying while society adopts an ostrich policy," and estimated that the life of the oceans had decreased by 40 percent between 1950 and 1970. Ms. Herrington added that government statistics indicate another 60 percent decrease in ocean life since 1970.

"Porpoise in the Pacific are on their way to extinction, along with fur seals, whales and probably other species as well," she concluded, while expressing the hope that the "American people will help us gain Congressional attention to the plight of the porpoise and the dying oceans by boycotting tuna and 'mon."

Woodchips

By ANTHONY MANCONI

The year was 1941 - the place Camp LeJuene, U.S. Marine Base. During basic training, standing at attention under a hot merciless sun, a mosquito landed on my buddy's (Wally Hill) nose. The drill sergeant bellowed, "If you move one muscle you'll wish you were never born!" Standing in front of Wally for a full five minutes, the sergeant dared him to make a move.

We all suffered under a boiling sun til that darn mosquito buzzed off. The spoken and unspoken words of our platoon for the drill sergeant (not in his presence of course) are unprintable. We couldn't understand why any man could be so inhuman, not because of that particular episode but for the hundreds of other endearing circumstances.

Two years later, on one of the islands of the Solomon's, we were pinned down by the enemy in one of the jungle swamps. Mosquitos everywhere - giant size - and when one landed on you to refuel, you did what Wally Hill did at Camp LeJuene - just stood still - or slap it with your hand and invite a sniper's bullet. It was there half way around the world that many of us said, "Hey, now we know why that drill sergeant was so tough - so we would survive under similar circumstances."

The best friend a man has in the world may turn against him and become his enemy. His son or daughter that he has reared with tender loving care may prove ungrateful. Those who are nearest and dearest to us, those whom we trust with our happiness and our good name, may become traitors. The one absolute friend that man can have in this selfish world, the one that will never desert or prove unfaithful is his "Dog."

My dog was running around and around in circles yesterday and my neighbor Paul Rao asked, "What a crazy dog, what's he doing that for?" "I thought you knew," I replied, "he's a 'Watchdog' and he's winding himself up." Paul is a 'coffee salesman' whose wife's plea for a divorce was turned down recently. The judge ruled she had insufficient 'grounds.'

Bob Bergeron, of Woburn, works for the Boston and Maine Railroad. It took a lot of 'training' because he 'switched' to this job after working in a lab. Bob was guest 'conductor' for a year - one day he asked a young lady, "How old are you?" "I'm five years old." "And when will you be six?" "When I get off the train."

On Bob's birthday last December, the train crew gave him a tie. It wasn't one he could wear but one he could cut up and burn - well he did that and it warmed the house for a week. Jimmy Fanikos is a tailor and a Greek scholar. I brought a pair of pants to be repaired and he asked, "Euripides?" "Yes," I replied, "Eumenides?"

I spoke with Julie Stedman's mother last week and from what she told me, Julie is indeed a remarkable young lady. Folks, you recall I'm sure that Julie Stedman of Wilmington won three gold medals in the National Handicapped Ski Championships at Jackson Hole, Wyoming. I hope to interview Julie and write more about her later.

I also had a very interesting conversation with Eleanor Riddle of the Wilmington Town Crier office. The first quetion I asked her was, "What do you think of Woodchips?" Eleanor laughed, then said, "I think it's 'crazy,' but I love it." I'm thankful that this column is so well received, but, in the interest of being truthful, there are some people who don't like what I say about my wife, my aunt Maria or uncle John Shea, so I'm giving them a chance to get back at me.

Ben Coviello, my friend from Wakefield, "Woodchipper you ought to go to Hollywood, the walk would do you good." Felix D'Amore of Reading asked, "Is that your nose or are you eating a banana?" Kim Hamilton, "You're so bowlegged you'll never have any use for talcum powder." Marie Tully, church organist, after I sang solo, "Did the fire alarm go off or was that you singing?" Ed Baratta, that's a nice suit you're wearing, amazing what they can do with burlap these days. Eddie Roderick of Lynnfield, just because your ears look like two big potato chips they don't make you 'wise,' and Frank Mazzoni said, "sometimes your column gives me 'the screaming mimmies.'"

Folks today is the tomorrow we worried about 'yesterday.' Uncle John Shea was driving and concentrating on the traffic but he felt he had forgotten something. He stopped the car, checked his wallet and packages but couldn't decide what it was he had forgotten. When he reached home his grandson Dennis ran out to the car, looked and said, "Hey Grandpa, what did you do with grandma?"

You remember me telling you about Miss Sullivan, my chemistry teacher who asked me many years ago, "What do you know about Nitrates?" "Miss Sullivan," I responded, "I don't know too much but I do know that 'nitrates' are cheaper than 'day-rates.'" She never gave up, "Describe a vacuum," was next and I got up, hesitated a while then said, "I've got it in my head but I can't describe it." Well, after many years, I sent her a card telling her I always think of her and I'm sorry for the gray hairs I was responsible for. I received an answer from her retirement home in North Reading saying, "I taught school for over 50 years and, yours is the first card or letter I have ever received. It came on a cold, damp dismal morning but it has cheered and warmed me as nothing has in years. I read your column every week and I find it hard to believe you are the same person, but when I recall some of those weird answers I'm sure you are the one who made me feel great when the school day was over."

Folks, send your former teachers a note, (no telephone calls please, they can't be pinned to a wall). It costs so little to say an appreciative word but the consequences for life and well being of an individual are incalculable. All that are needed are, pen, paper, envelope, stamp and 'Love.' Folks, May 13th is Mother's Day, please remember her every day with visits or in prayer but at the very least, remember her next Sunday. My poem, "Mother," was written for my mother and all mothers everywhere, may God bless them all.

Mother

We set a day aside each year and call it Mother's Day
We bring her cards or flowers that all have this to say
We love you Mom with all our heart you mean a lot to us
You sacrificed your time each day all without a fuss.
You gave us strength when we were weak
You taught us when and how to speak
You gave us hope when all seemed lost
You gave your best at any cost
I thank God when ere I pray and not just on Mother's Day
That in his arms He will embrace my wonderful Mother with all His grace

Realtors oppose $20 million tax

The Massachusetts Association of Realtors vigorously oppose an increase of $20 million on homeowners by the Dukakis administration's proposal to raise the Title Transfer Tax Fee as a means of rehabilitating the state's courthouse facilities. MAR's state president, Edmund G. Woods Jr., of Holyoke, in expressing objections by the state's 11,600 Realtor professionals, explains, "This constitutes a direct tax increase well in excess of 100 percent levied on the Massachusetts homeowners with absolutely no direct corresponding benefit."

Woods also expressed his concern that this tax increase "violates the spirit of Proposition 2½, which was supposed to reduce the tax burden of our state's residents. Instead, the homeowner who desires a change of ownership is being singled out as the sole supporter of the administration's general revenue line items."

In a letter to State Secretary of Administrations and Finance Frank T. Keefe, MAR's Director of Government Affairs Robert L. Nash reiterated this concern that "The earlier versions of the Transfer Tax were minimal and were basically used to cover the cost of services. House Bill I, however, uses this tax as a general revenue source, ignoring cost of service, which totally changes the concept of the transfer tax and raises serious questions as to its validity, and the legal aspects of such an increase.

"We view this philosophy of the Dukakis administration with great alarm," adds Woods, who encourages the Commonwealth's homeowners to join with the Realtor professionals in objecting to this proposed increase.

"If the Realtor and private property owner are to continue as community partners in providing affordable housing to fulfill the American dream of home ownership, we must exert our individual and combined efforts to make our dissatisfaction known to our state legislators," said President Woods.

Free cancer screening at Health Center

A free breast cancer screen will be conducted by appointment only Tuesday, May 22 from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. at the Regional Health Center in Wilmington by Dr. Jeanne M. Kilp, M.D. and Kathleen Leonard, R.N., CNS, certified nurse practitioner in gynecology.

The screening includes a film and brochure on self-breast exam. According to American Cancer Society statistics, breast cancer affects one in every 11 women; and in 85 percent of the cases, women discovered the breast lump themselves.

Dr. Kilp graduated with honors from the University of South Carolina and University of Tennessee College of Medicine. She completed her internship and residency, and is board-eligible in obstetrics and gynecology.

To make an appointment for the breast cancer screening, please call Community Health Education, 657-3910, ext. 567.

Programs focus on teens, parents at Health Center

Two programs for parents of teens and three programs for adolescents will be offered in May by the Community Health Education Department at the Regional Health Center in Wilmington to help make the teens years smoother for local families.

"TRANSITION TO THEIR TEEN YEARS" will be presented by John A. Myers, M.D., pediatrician and adolescent medicine specialist and Jane Appell, Ph.D, psychologist, for parents of pre-teens and young teens, to help them prepare for the coming years.

Dr. Myers, a graduate of Harvard Medical School, will focus on physical changes in adolescents, mood changes and strategies for improving communications. He will help parents delineate between "normal" adolescent physical development and behavior and the symptoms; and how to recognize problems. A question and answer period will follow the presentation.

Dr. Myers is a member of the Society for Adolescent Medicine and a Fellow of the American Academy of Pediatrics. Dr. Appell, a family and a children's therapist, is also a school psychologist. She earned her Ph.D. at Boston College.

This program will be held on Wednesday, May 16 from 7:30 to 9 p.m. and is free and open to the public.

"TEENS IN CRISIS" will be presented by John H. Heckler, Ph.D., psychologist, on Wednesday, May 30 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. He will discuss coping with troubled teens and the problems they encounter with peer pressure, drugs and alcohol. Questions from the audience will be addressed.

Dr. Heckler, a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, has completed post-doctoral work at Harvard University. He is licensed as a clinical and school psychologist.

He recommends that parents of teens not yet in crisis also attend the presentation in order to better prepare for the later teen years; and to learn to recognize the signs of a teen in crisis; or the symptoms of drug and alcohol use.

TEEN PROGRAMS

"GROWING UP FEMALE" includes understanding female anatomy, menstruation, hygiene and changes in females and males during adolescence. Recommended for girls, 10 to 13 years old. Wednesday, May 16.

"GROWING UP MALE" focuses on changes boys can expect during puberty, hygiene, and understanding growth and development in males and females. Recommended for boys, 12 to 14. Wednesday, May 23.

"RIGHTS, RESPONSIBILITIES AND PEER PRESSURES: The Teen's Choice" is for males and females 13 to 17 years old and who already know the basics of adolescent development (or have attended either of the above courses). Focuses on teen issues including sexuality, alcohol and other substances while emphasizing responsible decision-making. Wednesday, May 30.

The three teen programs will be held from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. and there is a $5 per person charge for each. This series is conducted by Eleanor R. Entin, R.N., B.S., community health educator, and the mother of a teenage son and daughter.

To pre-register for the teen programs or to reserve a space at the parenting programs, please call 657-3910, ext. 567.

Beautification project completed

WILMINGTON – Commuters traveling Route 129 were able to watch the progress of an earth-moving lady as she shoveled and shaped twenty tons of soil into a landscaping re-creation.

The fifty-two-year-old designer/creator using a vacant roadside plot began the beautification with two truckloads of solid fill, which travelers watched her move to create a woodland scene replica.

In eight days, Jean Lefavour, a long time resident of Wilmington, and mother of six children, completed the project. Her interest in creative land management began during Girl Scout leadership days and has continued.

The newly completed woodland re-creation is replete with reflection pond and goldfish, and "when electricity can be connected," Jean said, "the brook will actually babble." This comment refers to a miniature swath formed into the hillside to resemble a mountain stream, which will actually accommodate water running back into the fishpond.

The Ski Haus shop parking lot will accommodate any vehicles which may wish to stop and look more closely.

Poem

A MOTHER'S TRIBUTE
I enjoyed every moment of your childhood days.
For you children had many many ways
Of giving me joy beyond words could tell.
When I was sick you made me well.

But your childhood is over all too soon.
The memories linger on like a favorite tune.
For I love you three with all my heart.
How we have a future beginning to start.

I know that will also be.
As rewarding as your childhood to me.
I'm sure your Dad who is in Heaven
Looks down at us with God's blessing
I'm sure he's as proud as proud can be
Of his wonderful family.

Alliance for the Mentally Ill second annual convention

FRAMINGHAM — More than 400 members of the Alliance for the Mentally Ill of Massachusetts from all over the state will meet Saturday, May 12, for their second annual convention at the Sheraton Tara Hotel, Route 9. The meeting will focus on "Families Working for Change."

The keynote speaker will be state Sen. Chester G. Atkins, D-Concord, chairman of the Senate Ways and Means Committee. His topic will be "A Balanced Approach to the Care of the Chronically Mentally Ill."

Commissioner of Mental Health James J. Callahan Jr. will be guest speaker at the luncheon. He will talk aout "Government and Families Working Together."

The morning program will also feature two prominent doctors who are noted for their work in the field of mental health.

Dr. Kenneth A. Lorenz, clinical director of the Greater Worcester unit at Worcester State Hospital and assistant professor of psychiatry at the University of Massachusetts Medical Center, will report on a study he recently completed dealing with deinstitutionalization of the chronically mentally ill and how it affects their families.

Dr. Steven Matthysse, assistant professor of psychobiology at Harvard Medical School and researcher at Mailman Reasearch Center at McLean Hospital in Belmont, will discuss the current status of research in schizophrenia. He is recognized internationally for his research.

Following lunch, a report on the goals and programs of the National Alliance for the Mentally Ill will be given by its vice president Peggy Straw who is also president of the New Hampshire Alliance.

The highly regarded half-hour film "Interrupted Lives," with narration by Burt Lancaster, followed by a panel discussion featuring families of the mentally ill, will close the program. The film focuses on the problems of the long term mentally ill when they return to the community.

The Alliance for the Mentally Ill of Massachusetts, organized only two years ago, presently has thirty affiliated chapters throughout the state with more than 1000 members. A support/advocacy nonprofit organization, its goals include improved care for the long term mentally ill and educational programs for the public to remove the stigma of mental illness. For more information call Ann Brigida from the Eastern Middlesex Chapter at 944-6258.

Unique Service Offered
For forty dollars minus two and a minute of your time
I'll write a story just for you and put it all in rhyme.
Proposals and apologies
are done with grace and style,
And even if rejected
they are bound to bring a smile
Perhaps you're just plain angry and acting out in mime,
You'll prove your point much better
if you put it all in rhyme.
I'll strive to state your problem
in good taste and humor too,
So tell me what you want to say
I'll write it just for you.

Crunch an apple!

Coming Attractions

By William Pacino

The apple trees in the rolling hills of Nashoba Valley will be in full bloom for the thirty-second annual Apple Blossom Festival in Harvard, Mass., Saturday, May 12.

The Town Common, near the junction of Routes 2 and 495, will feature entertainment and activities from 10 AM to 4 PM.

The festival will feature traditional crafts and skills including sheep- shearing, horse- shoeing, wall-stenciling, pottery making, ceramics, silver working, stained glass making, topiary plant arranging, and Shaker carpentry. Johnny Appleseed will distribute tree- fresh, locally grown apples. Continuous bus tours of local apple orchards will show the processes involved in growing and picking apples and in preparing Harvard's unique apple cider. Free samples will be available.

The rain date is Sunday, May 13.

Plum Island Bird Walk

Interested persons are invited to join the Ipswich River Watershed Association on a Bird Walk on Plum Island, Sunday, May 13. Returning warblers are expected to be observed.

Participants will meet at 7:30 AM sharp at the Airport at the entrance to Plum Island, and are asked to call the leader, Charles Costello (283-3525) or Jackie Allaman (887-9685) for reservations prior to that date.

Grand Re-Opening

The Museum of Transportation has returned to Larz Anderson Park, 15 Newton St. in Brookline and will host a Grand Re-Opening on May 19th, from 11 AM to 6 PM. All antique cars are invited for display outdoors. Those arriving in 1950's vehicles will be admitted to the Museum free.

The Museum will present an exhibit entitled 'Drivin' Dreams: Cars of the '1950's', through Labor Day. 14 cars of the '50's will be displayed in settings including drive-in, car hop, used car lot, front of appliance/record store, and hot-rod garage.

The Musetim is open Thursdays through Sundays, 11 AM to 6 PM. Call 522-6140 for further information.

THEATRE

Tom Stoppard's "On the Razzle", a brilliantly funny adapation of a play by Johann Nestroy, will begin previews Saturday, May 19th, as the final production of the Huntington Theatre Company's 1983/ 1984 season. Reid Shelton, Daddy Warbucks in Broadway's 'Annie' will be featured in the role of Zangler. Directed by Thomas Gruenwald, "On the Razzle" continues in previews through May 22, opens to the press on Wednesday, May 23 and plays through June 10 at the Boston University Theatre, 264 Huntington Ave, Boston.

Ticket prices range from $9 to $18 depending on the day and time of the performance. To charge tickets by phone, call the Theatre Box Office at 266-3913.

"Lady Day", the musical portrait of the legendary jazz artist Billie Holiday, will celebrate its Boston premiere at the Next Move Theatre May 15.

Billie Holiday could transform the most banal pop ballard into an intense, subtle work of art. She was the ultimate jazz singer, relying on a deeply honest delivery and an exquiste control of her vocal range.

Woven into "Lady Day" are twenty favorite Holiday songs including "God Bless the Child", "My Man", "All of Me", "When You're Smiling", and "Them There Eyes".

Tickets are available through the box office at One Boylston Place and at Ticketron outlets. For box office information call 423-4472.

From an apple to applause, from a warbler to a '50's Chevy, COMING ATTRACTIONS has something for everyone. But if you know of an event of interest to all that we have missed, write, care of this local newspaper and tell us all about it. There must be other attractions going on in places other that Harvard, Brookline, Plum Island and Boston.

Secretaries International Conference May 18-20

Secretaries from the six New England states will meet at Dunfey's Hotel in Hyannis on Cape Cod from May 18-20 for the annual New England Conference of Professional Secretaries International (PSI). More than 200 members are expected to attend. Among the registrants will be Dorothy Crowell of Woburn, a member of the Route 128 Chapter.

In addition to business meetings, the conference agenda includes a seminar and two luncheon speakers. The seminar leader will be Mardy Wheeler, director of Career Development, Liberty Mutual Insurance. Her topic will be "Analyzing and Maintaining a Support System." Saturday's Certified Professional Secretary's luncheon speaker will be Ruth Bennett, co-owner of COM-MENT, educator and analyst in communications and human resources. She will discuss "Turning Negatives into Positives." The speaker at Sunday's brunch will be Joel Yanowitz, consultant with Innovation Associates, Framingham, a management consultant firm. His topic will be "Visionary Leadership."

Non-members are welcome. For further information, contact Dorothy Crowell at 933-6048.

Singles dance May 13

The Arlington, Lexington, Medford, Malden, Melrose and Reading Chapters of TSL (The Single Life), a non-profit organization, invite all singles over 21, whether separated, divorced, widowed, or never married, to their Spring Dance on Sunday, May 13 at 8 p.m. at Howard Johnson's, Montvale Ave., Woburn. Continuous music with live band and D.J. Members $2 and non-members $4. For further information call TSL Headquarters, 891-3750.

Local actors on display

Seven local children will be featured in the up-coming North Reading Theatre Workshop's production of "Annie." Caren Todisco of North Reading portrays the optimistic curly redhead, and is joined in the orphanage by "suitemates" Robin Fiorentino, Kim Maher, Susan Courtemanche, Heather Williams, and Jennifer Moscone, all of North Reading and Beth Kostopolous of Wakefield.

"Annie" was first presented in January of this year, and met with much success and audience approval, that it is being done again to accommodate those who couldn't enjoy "Annie" at that time.

Performances are slated for 8:00 p.m. on Friday, May 11, and 2:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m. on Saturday, May 12, all at N.R.H.S. To reserve your seats, please phone Maeve Bradley, 28 Riverside Drive, North Reading 664-3731.
